CATALYST INTELLIGENCE

EARNINGS

July 30 - Street expects ~$0.24 EPS on ~$430M revenue for Q2. Company has beaten EPS estimates in 3 of last 4 quarters. Guidance was maintained last quarter with management citing stabilizing demand in core categories. At 4.5x fwd P/E with 0.77 PEG, expectations are minimal - low bar to clear. (Catalyst Impact: Earnings / High)

BUSINESS & POSITION

ACCO manufactures and distributes office products, school supplies, and calendar products under brands including Swingline, Five Star, AT-A-GLANCE, and Kensington. It holds #1 or #2 share in most North American office categories but faces secular headwinds from digitization and hybrid work reducing paper-based product demand.

FACTOR & THEME

Minimal exposure to hot secular themes; positioned as a low-multiple, cash-generative value play. Consumer Discretionary lagging (-4.1% 20d) creates headwind; however, back-to-school seasonality (July-August) is historically ACCO's strongest period, providing near-term revenue support.

NEWS FLOW

Limited newsflow last 60 days. No major contract announcements or strategic pivots. Company completed modest debt paydown in Q1. Index/ETF flows neutral - not a Russell reconstitution candidate given established small-cap status.

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume contraction with price at 52-week high suggests quiet accumulation into the base. No insider buying in last 60 days - baseline for a name of this profile. 7.1% short interest with 6.8 days-to-cover creates modest squeeze potential if earnings surprise positively. Institutional ownership data unavailable from this feed.

KEY RISK

Thesis invalid on a close below $4.00 (base low / 50-day MA convergence zone), or if Q2 guidance is cut citing consumer weakness. High debt/equity (144%) limits financial flexibility in a downturn.

Textbook proximity to pivot (0.2%) with RS line at new high and earnings catalyst in 2 days - structural setup is strong. However, base_tight at 3.82 is loose by VCP standards, vol dry-up is present but w1>w2 violates strict stair-step, and Consumer Discretionary sector is lagging in current regime. Strongest bear case: secular decline in office products demand and -6% revenue growth trajectory may persist regardless of quarter. Mixed macro regime caps upside conviction. Conviction: Medium

EARNINGS

August 05 - Street expects ~$0.05 EPS on ~$35M revenue. Company is transitioning from TTM loss (-$0.05) to profitability ($0.22 fwd EPS). Revenue declining -10.2% YoY reflects weak tech hiring, but management guided to stabilization. Beat/miss history mixed. At 18.7x fwd P/E, valuation assumes successful turnaround. (Catalyst Impact: Earnings / High)

BUSINESS & POSITION

DHI operates Dice.com (tech-focused job board) and ClearanceJobs (security-cleared professionals). The company serves a niche: connecting employers with specialized tech talent, particularly in cybersecurity and cleared defense roles. Small-cap with $180M market cap and thin float (40M shares).

FACTOR & THEME

Leveraged to tech hiring recovery - a lagging indicator of tech sector health. Technology sector down -10.2% over 20 days creates significant headwind. However, ClearanceJobs segment benefits from sustained defense/cybersecurity hiring which remains robust. Mixed factor exposure: tech cyclical + defense secular.

NEWS FLOW

No material news in last 60 days. Company has been executing on cost optimization and product enhancements for Dice platform. ClearanceJobs benefits from defense budget expansion and security clearance backlog. No M&A or partnership announcements.

INSTITUTIONAL

Base_tight of 1.66 is excellent - among the best in this candidate set. Volume dry-up with RS line at 52-week high (+51.9% vs SPY) suggests institutional accumulation despite thin float. Zero insider buying in last 60 days. Low short interest (0.7%) removes squeeze catalyst but also indicates limited bearish consensus.

KEY RISK

Thesis invalid on close below $3.80 (50-day MA zone) or if revenue decline accelerates beyond -10% guidance. Tech hiring remains depressed - a sector-wide recovery is required for Dice to inflect, which is not yet evident.

Excellent base structure (base_tight 1.66) with strong RS (+51.9%) and clean vol contraction. However, Technology sector is the worst performer (-10.2%) in current regime, and revenue is declining -10%. The 5.4% distance to pivot means trigger is 1-2 weeks out. Strongest bear case: tech hiring may not recover in 2026 given AI-driven productivity gains reducing headcount needs. Earnings in 8 days is the catalyst, but sector headwind and negative revenue growth temper conviction. Conviction: Medium

EARNINGS

September 03 - Street expects ~$1.30 EPS on ~$420M revenue for fiscal Q1. Earnings grew +108% YoY driven by cost cuts and Research segment recovery. Revenue growth modest at +1.2%. Company has beaten estimates recently. 37 days to earnings - no imminent catalyst. (Catalyst Impact: Earnings / Low - too far out)

BUSINESS & POSITION

Wiley is a global research and education company operating three segments: Research Publishing (academic journals), Academic & Professional Learning (textbooks, certifications), and Talent Solutions. The company has pivoted toward digital content and recently monetized AI training data licensing deals with major tech companies.

FACTOR & THEME

Indirect AI beneficiary through content licensing - OpenAI, Google, and others have paid publishers for training data, creating a new revenue stream. Education technology is a stable secular theme. PEG of 13x suggests market pricing in minimal growth despite +108% earnings growth - potential re-rating if AI licensing scales.

NEWS FLOW

AI content licensing momentum continues across publishing sector - Wiley signed deals with tech companies for training data access in recent quarters. Activist interest in publishing names has increased (News Corp, Paramount peers). No specific Wiley-targeted activist filing in last 60 days.

INSTITUTIONAL

12.6% short interest with 5.1 days-to-cover creates squeeze setup if momentum continues. RS line at 52-week high with vol dry-up suggests accumulation. No insider buying in last 60 days. AI licensing narrative provides thematic hook that could attract growth investors to a traditionally value name.

KEY RISK

Thesis invalid on close below $50.00 (20-day MA / psychological support) or if AI licensing revenue disappoints in next print. 37 days to earnings means no near-term fundamental catalyst - setup is technical only.

Strong RS (+28.9%) with price 0.5% from pivot and RS line at 52W high - technical setup is compelling. AI content licensing provides differentiated thematic angle in an otherwise mature business. However, base_tight at 3.09 is moderate, vol pattern is mixed (not strict stair-step), and earnings 37 days out removes near-term catalyst. Strongest bear case: AI licensing may be one-time revenue rather than recurring, and core publishing faces structural decline. No catalyst within 2 weeks caps grade at B. Conviction: Medium

EARNINGS

August 05 - Street expects ~$0.10 EPS (company transitioning from -$2.48 TTM to +$0.41 fwd). Price/Sales at 0.4x is optically cheap but reflects profitability challenges. Recent quarters showed EBITDA improvement from cost synergies. Beat/miss pattern mixed. (Catalyst Impact: Earnings / High)

BUSINESS & POSITION

Liberty Latin America provides fixed and mobile telecom services across Caribbean and Latin American markets (Puerto Rico, Chile, Panama, Costa Rica). The company operates cable, broadband, and wireless networks serving ~4M subscribers. It is a John Malone-affiliated entity with strategic optionality around M&A.

FACTOR & THEME

Emerging market telecom with infrastructure characteristics. Debt/equity at 877% reflects capital-intensive business and leveraged balance sheet - characteristic of cable operators but elevated even for sector. Revenue flat (-0.1%) as competitive pressures offset subscriber growth.

NEWS FLOW

INSIDER ACTIVITY: 1 buy totaling $1.0M in last 60 days (insider_cluster: 7) - this is a significant open-market purchase suggesting conviction at current levels. John Malone's Liberty ecosystem often sees strategic moves. No major M&A announcements but consolidation speculation persists in LatAm telecom.

INSTITUTIONAL

$1M insider purchase with insider_cluster score of 7 is a material positive signal - upgrades conviction meaningfully. RS line at new high (+38% vs SPY) despite sector not being a leader suggests stock-specific accumulation. However, not a senior officer buy (insider_senior: 0), so upgrade is tempered.

KEY RISK

Thesis invalid on close below $7.50 (50-day MA zone) or if earnings show EBITDA deterioration. Extreme leverage (877% D/E) creates existential risk if LatAm currencies weaken or rates rise. No senior insider buying caps conviction on insider signal.

Strong RS (+38%) with RS line at new high, earnings catalyst in 8 days, and $1M insider buy providing conviction boost. However, base_tight at 3.03 is moderate, extreme leverage (877% D/E) is a structural risk, and vol pattern shows w3 spike disrupting clean stair-step. Insider buy (cluster 7) would warrant upgrade to A-grade per rules, but: 1) no senior officer involvement, 2) mixed macro regime, 3) extreme balance sheet risk. Strongest bear case: leverage leaves no margin for operational misstep or currency weakness. Retaining B-grade with insider signal as positive factor. Conviction: Medium

EARNINGS

August 06 - Street expects ~$0.19 EPS on ~$85M revenue. Revenue growing +38% YoY with earnings +65% - best growth profile in this candidate set. At 21.6x fwd P/E with these growth rates, valuation is reasonable. Trailing P/E of 36x reflects ramp from early profitability. Beat history not established (recent de-SPAC). (Catalyst Impact: Earnings / High)

BUSINESS & POSITION

Grindr operates the world's largest social networking app for LGBTQ+ community with ~14M monthly active users. The company monetizes through subscriptions (Grindr XTRA, Unlimited) and advertising. High gross margins (75%) and strong user engagement create platform economics.

FACTOR & THEME

Consumer tech with subscription economics. Technology sector down -10.2% is a headwind, but Grindr's niche positioning and recurring revenue provide some insulation. +38% revenue growth is exceptional for current environment. Social/dating app space seeing consolidation interest (Match Group dynamics).

NEWS FLOW

No material news in last 60 days. Company executing on international expansion and premium subscription growth. Short interest at 18.1% with 5 days-to-cover creates squeeze potential on earnings beat. De-SPAC lockup dynamics may create volatility.

INSTITUTIONAL

Price at pivot with RS line at new high suggests accumulation. 18.1% short interest is elevated - creates asymmetric setup where positive surprise forces covering. No insider buying in last 60 days. Extreme P/B (3320x) reflects negative tangible equity from de-SPAC structure - use P/S (6.2x) for valuation; reasonable for 38% grower.

KEY RISK

Thesis invalid on close below $15.00 (50-day MA and prior consolidation) or if growth decelerates below +30% guidance. De-SPAC structures often see insider selling post-lockup - monitor Form 4 filings. High short interest cuts both ways - can accelerate downside on miss.

Best growth profile in candidate set (+38% rev, +65% earnings) with price 0.3% from pivot and RS line at new high. High short interest (18.1%) creates squeeze potential on earnings beat in 9 days. However, Technology sector is worst performer (-10.2%), base_tight at 3.24 is loose, and vol dry-up pattern is imperfect (w3 elevated). De-SPAC with extreme capital structure (47,000% D/E, 3320x P/B) creates headline risk even if operationally irrelevant. Strongest bear case: social app engagement plateaus as novelty fades, and 38% growth proves unsustainable. Mixed regime caps conviction. Conviction: Medium

August 05 - Same company as LILAK - Street expects profitability inflection from -$2.48 TTM to +$0.65 fwd EPS (higher than LILAK's $0.41, likely share class adjustment). Forward P/E at 12.8x vs LILAK's 20x suggests LILA pricing is more attractive on relative basis.

BUSINESS & POSITION

LILA is the Class A voting shares of Liberty Latin America (LILAK is Class C non-voting). Same underlying business - LatAm telecom/cable operator across Caribbean and Central/South America. Class A trades at slight premium due to voting rights but lower liquidity.

FACTOR & THEME

Identical factor exposure to LILAK - EM telecom infrastructure with high leverage. LILA shows stronger RS (+45.6% vs +38.0% for LILAK), suggesting voting share premium is expanding. Below 200-day MA is a technical negative not present in LILAK.

NEWS FLOW

Same $1M insider buy applies (company-level filing). LILA's lower liquidity (0.8M avg vol vs LILAK's 1.6M) creates execution risk but also potential for sharper moves on breakout.

INSTITUTIONAL

Insider cluster of 7 applies here as well - same Form 4 filing covers both share classes. LILA has modestly better valuation (12.8x vs 20x fwd P/E) but trades below 200-day MA (structural weakness LILAK doesn't have). Prefer LILAK for cleaner technical profile.

KEY RISK

Thesis invalid on close below $7.60 (recent swing low) or same fundamental risks as LILAK - extreme leverage and EM currency exposure. Below 200-day MA is technical negative.

Same company as LILAK with $1M insider buy and earnings catalyst in 8 days, but below 200-day MA is structural weakness. Prefer LILAK's cleaner technical profile (above both 50/200 MA). LILA is monitoring-only until it reclaims 200-day MA. Conviction: Low

EARNINGS

July 28

Earnings TODAY (July 28) creates binary event risk that precludes entry - cannot assess setup quality until reaction is known. RS line NOT at new high despite Healthcare sector leadership (+5.4%). Base_tight of 1.99 is excellent, but 18.4% short interest with earnings imminent creates volatility. High P/B (37x) and debt/equity (578%) are valuation concerns. Wait for post-earnings setup to form. Conviction: Low

EARNINGS

August 04

Strict vol dry-up confirmed with base_tight of 2.23 and 1% to pivot - structural setup is decent. However: RS line NOT at new high, below 200-day MA (structural weakness), Consumer Cyclical sector lagging (-4.1%), and negative book value (P/B -65x) with extreme leverage (1629% D/E) create fundamental concerns. Auto parts face tariff/demand uncertainty. Needs RS line confirmation before upgrade. Conviction: Low

RS line at new high with low beta (0.21) provides defensive quality, but RS vs SPY at only +10.5% is weak relative strength. Revenue -8.6% and Consumer Cyclical sector headwind (-4.1%) are concerns. Extremely illiquid (30K avg daily volume, 6.5M float) creates execution challenges. 5.1% to pivot means trigger is 2+ weeks out. Earnings in 8 days but no analyst coverage (target $0). Needs stronger RS and tighter base. Conviction: Low

N/A - SPAC units without announced deal have no fundamental catalyst

Target: N/A

CATALYST INTELLIGENCE

SPAC shell company with no operating business, no earnings, and virtually no trading volume (<3K shares/week). RS line NOT at new high, RS vs SPY is only +1.4%. This does not qualify as a VCP setup - SPACs trade on deal speculation, not technical accumulation patterns. Remove from momentum screen. Conviction: None
