| Breakout driven by ziftomenib (menin inhibitor) momentum ahead of potential FDA filing in acute myeloid leukemia. Forward catalyst: ASCO or ASH data readouts for multiple indications (Q4 2026), plus potential regulatory milestones and partnership interest given menin's competitive positioning in the crowded AML landscape.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

| Kura Oncology is a clinical-stage biopharmaceutical company developing precision medicines for cancer, with lead asset ziftomenib targeting genetically defined subtypes of AML. The company's menin inhibitor franchise positions it in a competitive but high-value oncology space with meaningful unmet need.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

| RS line at new high + prox_52w 97.8 + insider cluster 7 ($2.4M) + vol 2.81x = textbook A-grade setup. Disconfirming evidence: base_tight 5.67 is wide (well above the 2.0 VCP threshold), indicating volatility rather than coiling - this is a momentum chase, not a clean institutional absorption pattern. However, the insider buying (rare and material) combined with RS leadership and breakout proximity to 52W highs overrides the base looseness. Conviction: Medium-High - strong technical and insider conviction offset by macro crosswind (mega-cap leadership) and wide base. |

| RS line new high + prox_52w 93.6 + base_tight 2.08 (textbook VCP) + insider cluster 7 ($19.1M - the largest insider commitment in the scan) + nuclear theme acceleration = elite A-grade. Upgraded from B to A due to insider_cluster 5 per grading rule. Disconfirming evidence: earnings are TOMORROW - this is a pre-earnings run with extreme binary risk, and the RS vs SPY is only +11.0 (not a runaway leader). If the print disappoints, reversal will be violent. Conviction: Medium - technical and insider setup is pristine, but the 1-day catalyst window and mega-cap regime create execution risk. |

| Volume explosion to 6.34x (highest in the scan) on a 15% gain is classic institutional accumulation - likely news-driven block buying rather than technical breakout. No insider buying in last 60 days, but the float (60.4M) and vol profile suggest smart money is chasing the AI-bio convergence theme.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

| RS vs SPY +53.5 (far and away the strongest relative strength in the scan) + RS line new high + prox_52w 89.9 + vol 6.34x = elite A-grade despite the wide base (4.64). Disconfirming evidence: base_tight 4.64 and the 15% single-day surge suggest this is a news-driven spike, not a clean institutional coil - high risk of exhaustion if the catalyst is already fully discounted. No insider buying is a minor negative. Conviction: Medium - exceptional RS and volume confirm institutional urgency, but the lack of identifiable forward catalyst and wide base create execution risk in a mega-cap-led regime. |

| RS line new high + prox_52w 96.6 + vol 2.35x checks the technical boxes for an A, but RS vs SPY is only +2.6 (barely positive) and base_tight 4.84 is very wide - this is a late-stage momentum chase, not a clean coil. The lack of a clear catalyst (no news today, earnings 76 days out) and the crowded social media competitive landscape are disconfirming. Downgraded to B due to weak relative strength and lack of near-term catalyst. Conviction: Low - this is a technical breakout with limited institutional confirmation and no obvious incremental-buyer fuel. |

| Insider cluster of 4 (2 buys totaling $432K in last 60 days) is a positive signal, though the dollar size is modest. Volume 1.96x on 7.23% gain suggests moderate institutional interest. MLP structure limits traditional institutional ownership, so the insider buying carries more weight.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

| Prox_52w 93.1 + base_tight 2.47 (clean VCP) + insider cluster 4 + energy sector leadership = solid B-grade. Disconfirming evidence: RS vs SPY is only +2.0 (barely positive) and RS line is NOT at new high (fails Qullamaggie's #1 leader signal), indicating this is a sector lift rather than individual leadership. The insider buying is modest in dollar terms. Conviction: Medium - energy sector tailwind and tight base are constructive, but weak relative strength and MLP structure limit upside in a mega-cap-led regime. |

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Breakout likely driven by infectious disease pipeline progress or partnership news (no specific catalyst disclosed). Forward catalyst: November 4 earnings as a pipeline update vehicle, plus potential partnership expansions with GSK or Alnylam, and Hep B or influenza trial data readouts in Q4 2026.

BUSINESS & POSITION

Vir Biotechnology focuses on infectious disease therapeutics and vaccines, with partnerships with GSK (Hep B) and Alnylam (RNA interference). The company is pivoting from COVID antibodies to chronic infections and next-gen vaccines, seeking to validate its platform with commercial traction.

FACTOR & THEME

Exposure to infectious disease biotech, benefiting from pandemic preparedness funding and chronic infection unmet need. Theme momentum is decelerating post-COVID, but the Hep B franchise and flu programs offer durable value. Sector tailwind is neutral.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $10.71 on vol >2.0x of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 2.02x on 8.07% gain is moderate - suggests technical breakout rather than news-driven surge. No insider buying in last 60 days. Institutional ownership data not available from yfinance; recommend 13F review given the GSK partnership and established biotech profile.

EARNINGS

EARNINGS IN 71D

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Next earnings November 04, 2026. Focus will be on Hep B pipeline progress, partnership economics with GSK, and cash burn. Vir has struggled with post-COVID repositioning - the market will scrutinize path to profitability.

KEY RISK

Thesis invalid on a close below $9.80 (20MA support), or on any partnership termination or clinical setback disclosed at the November 4 print. Infectious disease biotech is event-driven and binary.

ANALYSIS

Prox_52w 91.9 + vol 2.02x + RS vs SPY +15.4 = solid B-grade setup. Disconfirming evidence: RS line is NOT at new high, base_tight 3.67 is loose (above 2.0 VCP threshold), and no clear catalyst today or in the near term (earnings 71 days out). The infectious disease theme is decelerating, and Vir's post-COVID transition is unproven. Conviction: Low-Medium - technical setup is constructive, but lack of leadership signal (RS line not at new high) and theme headwinds limit conviction.

| Strong move (+16.94%) and vol 2.11x signal institutional urgency. Disconfirming evidence: prox_52w only 79.0 (well below the 85+ breakout zone), RS line NOT at new high, and base_tight 5.05 is very wide - this is a news-driven spike from deep in a range, not a clean breakout. Tiny float (8.6M) creates squeeze dynamics but also illiquidity risk. No insider buying is a minor negative. Conviction: Low - the move is impressive, but the technical setup is poor (not near 52W high, wide base), and no identifiable forward catalyst. This is a speculative momentum trade, not an institutional-quality setup. |
