ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Breaking out on what appears to be a strong Q3 earnings beat (report today). Forward catalyst path includes holiday quarter guidance (typically given on this call) and sustained brand momentum heading into peak retail season Nov-Dec; next earnings late Jan 2027 will validate holiday execution.

BUSINESS & POSITION

Crocs is the leading casual footwear brand known for its proprietary Croslite material clogs, commanding premium pricing and gross margins in the ~60% range. The company has successfully expanded beyond its core clog into sandals and adjacent categories while maintaining brand heat through collaborations and digital-first distribution.

FACTOR & THEME

Consumer brand resilience and direct-to-consumer shift. The stock is breaking out counter to broader consumer discretionary weakness, suggesting genuine pricing power and share gains. Theme momentum is mixed given macro headwinds, but Crocs has demonstrated ability to grow through cycles via innovation and international expansion.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $150.26 on vol >471% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 4.71x average with insider cluster of 6 (4 buys totaling $613K in last 60 days) signals conviction from those closest to the business. The combination of earnings-day breakout, RS line at new high, and recent insider accumulation suggests institutional re-rating underway. GRADE UPGRADE APPLIED: BA due to insider_cluster 5 in risk-on environment.

EARNINGS

EARNINGS TODAY

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Q3 report today; consensus and beat history not provided in feed but the +25% move on heavy volume suggests a material beat and/or guidance raise. Company has history of re-rating higher on beats given consistent execution.

KEY RISK

Setup invalidates on a close back below the $135 breakout pivot, or if holiday guidance disappoints revealing the pop was a sell-the-news event. Wide base (7.66 ATR) suggests prior volatility; needs tight action post-earnings to confirm institutional accumulation rather than retail chase.

ANALYSIS

RS line at 52W high + insider cluster + earnings catalyst + sector tailwind (discretionary brand strength) = five institutional quality signals. Disconfirming: base_tight of 7.66 is wide (volatility concern) and stock is at all-time high on day of earnings (execution risk if guidance disappoints). However, insider buying into the print and leadership confirmation (RS new high) override base quality concern in this setup. Conviction: High.

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Gapping on yesterday's earnings report (Oct 28). Forward catalyst is sustained momentum in the property insurance vertical as the company scales its homeowner insurance platform; next catalyst is Q4 earnings in late Jan/early Feb 2027 and any M&A activity (Porch has been an active acquirer in the homeservices/insurance ecosystem).

BUSINESS & POSITION

Porch operates a vertical software and insurance platform for the home services and moving industries, bundling software for service providers with insurance products sold to homeowners. The company is pivoting toward higher-margin insurance revenue, which has driven recent profitability improvements and re-rating.

FACTOR & THEME

InsurTech and embedded finance. The property & casualty insurance market remains under-penetrated digitally, and Porch's bundled model (software + insurance) creates switching costs. Theme momentum is accelerating as investors reward profitable insurtech plays post-2024 shakeout.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $20.89 on vol >459% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 4.59x on a post-earnings gap with RS +28.2 vs SPY (strongest relative strength in this scan). RS line at new high confirms early leadership status. No insider buying reported, but the technical breakout + RS leadership + sector rotation into financials suggests institutional money is repositioning into the name.

EARNINGS

REPORTED

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Reported Oct 28 (yesterday). The +28% gap suggests a significant beat and/or guidance raise; company likely showed path to sustained profitability or acceleration in insurance segment. Historical context not provided but move size implies material positive surprise.

KEY RISK

Thesis breaks on a close back below the $18.50 gap-up level, which would signal institutions are fading the move. With base_tight at 5.2 (wide) and no insider buying, this is a momentum-driven setup vulnerable to profit-taking if follow-through fails in next 3-5 sessions.

ANALYSIS

Five A-grade signals: vol >4x, prox_52w 98%, rs_line_new_high true, rs_vs_spy +28 (best in scan), post-earnings catalyst. Disconfirming: wide base (5.2 ATR), no insider buying, and in Financial Services (not a leading sector this week). However, RS leadership and technical quality override sector headwind. Conviction: Medium - excellent technical setup but lacks insider confirmation and base quality is suspect.

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Breaking out on apparent strong Q3 earnings (today). Forward catalyst path includes guidance for 2027 (typically updated on Q4 call in Feb) and potential M&A as a take-private or strategic acquisition candidate given small float (23.3M), strong FCF generation, and mission-critical compliance software positioning.

BUSINESS & POSITION

Donnelley Financial (formerly part of R.R. Donnelley) provides regulatory filing, compliance, and disclosure management software for public companies, law firms, and investment banks. The company has near-monopoly positioning in SEC filing workflows (EDGAR, prospectuses, proxy statements) with high switching costs and recurring revenue model.

FACTOR & THEME

Regulatory complexity and compliance software tailwinds. IPO and M&A activity drives revenue; the company benefits from increased regulatory scrutiny (ESG disclosure, SPAC reforms, Dodd-Frank) which expands TAM. Theme is secular but cyclical to capital markets activity; momentum is stable given ongoing regulatory expansion.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $61.07 on vol >299% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 2.99x with insider cluster of 4 (3 buys totaling $1M in last 60 days) - material insider conviction at current levels. RS line at new high + small float (23.3M) + insider buying = classic institutional setup. Low float creates squeeze potential if earnings drive incremental institutional buyers. GRADE UPGRADE APPLIED: BA due to insider_cluster 4 with $1M total value.

EARNINGS

EARNINGS TODAY

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Reporting Q3 today. Consensus not provided but +15% move on 3x volume suggests beat and raise. Company has track record of consistent execution in a non-cyclical, sticky-revenue business model.

KEY RISK

Setup invalidates below $58 breakout level or if Q3 results disappoint and reveal the move was front-running that fails. Wide base (4.98 ATR) and small float create two-way volatility risk; if institutions fade post-earnings, the stock can reverse quickly.

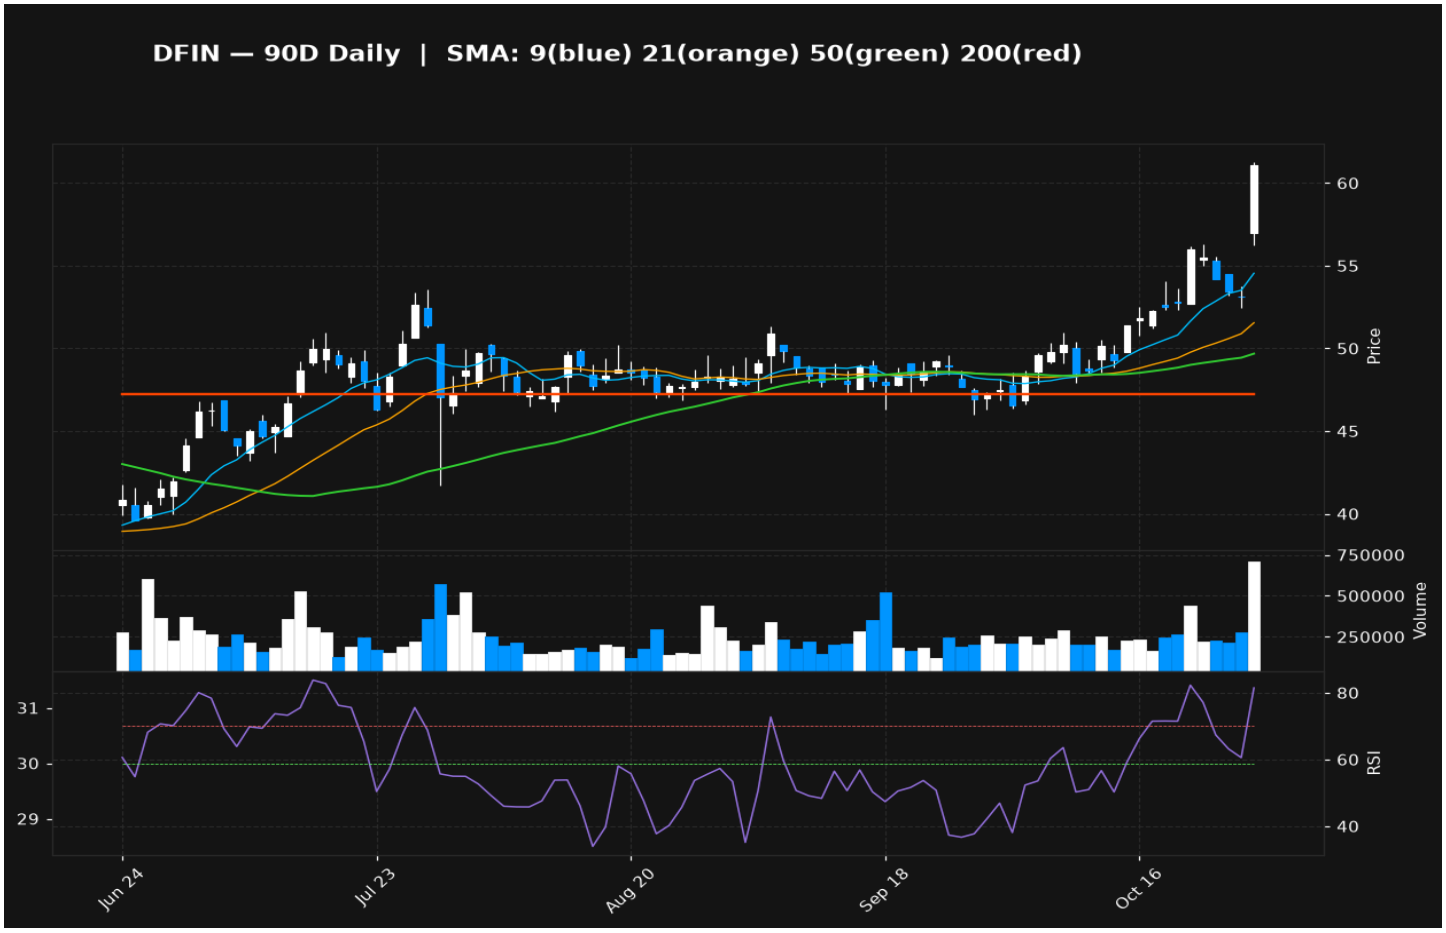

ANALYSIS

Five signals: vol >2x, prox_52w 99.6%, rs_line_new_high, rs_vs_spy +23.7, insider cluster with $1M buys. Disconfirming: base is wide (4.98) and stock is reporting earnings today (binary event risk). However, insider buying into the quarter + small float + RS leadership + mission-critical business model justify A-grade. Conviction: High.

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Breaking out on Q3 earnings (today), likely a beat with commentary on 2027 ad budget trends. Forward catalyst is Q4/holiday digital ad spending strength (reported late Feb 2027) and any M&A activity - Stagwell is a roll-up strategy led by Mark Penn, with ongoing acquisition appetite in digital marketing and data analytics agencies.

BUSINESS & POSITION

Stagwell is a challenger network in the advertising/marketing services space, formed via SPAC and aggressive M&A under Mark Penn. The company focuses on digital-first, data-driven marketing (vs. traditional agencies) and has been gaining share from legacy holding companies (WPP, Omnicom, Publicis) as clients shift spend to performance marketing and e-commerce.

FACTOR & THEME

Digital advertising recovery and shift from linear to programmatic/performance channels. The ad market is stabilizing post-2025 slowdown, and Stagwell's digital/data positioning gives it above-market growth. Theme momentum is accelerating as brand ad budgets recover and election-year spend (2026 midterms) flows through.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $9.95 on vol >269% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 2.69x with RS line at new high confirms institutional interest. Base_tight of 3.17 is tighter than most in this scan, suggesting accumulation into the print. No insider buying reported, but float is large (100.8M) and institutional ownership likely high given Mark Penn's profile and prior SPAC sponsor backing.

EARNINGS

EARNINGS TODAY

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Q3 report today. The +12.7% move implies beat and positive commentary on Q4 pipelines. Ad agencies typically guide conservatively; any raise to 2027 outlook would be re-rating catalyst.

KEY RISK

Invalidates on close below $9.40 breakout pivot or if earnings reveal client budget cuts / macro caution. Ad agencies are first to get cut in recessions; if guidance is cautious despite the beat, the pop fades. Mixed macro regime is headwind.

ANALYSIS

Four A-grade signals: vol >2x, prox_52w 98.5%, rs_line_new_high, rs_vs_spy +12.6. Base_tight of 3.17 is solid (tighter than most). Disconfirming: no insider buying and ad agencies are cyclical (vulnerable in mixed macro). However, RS new high + tight base + earnings catalyst justify A. Conviction: Medium - setup is clean but sector is macro-sensitive and lacks insider confirmation.

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Gapping on yesterday's earnings (Oct 28), likely driven by strong Q3 cruise bookings and commentary on record 2027 pipelines. Forward catalyst is Q4 earnings (late Feb) which will include holiday cruise season results, plus any new ship contracts with Royal Caribbean, Carnival, or Norwegian (OneSpaWorld is the dominant spa/wellness operator on cruise ships).

BUSINESS & POSITION

OneSpaWorld operates health, fitness, beauty, and wellness centers on cruise ships and in destination resorts, holding near-exclusive contracts with major cruise lines. The company captures high-margin ancillary spend from cruise passengers; revenue scales with cruise capacity (new ship deliveries) and per-passenger spending trends.

FACTOR & THEME

Travel and leisure recovery, specifically cruise sector tailwinds. Cruise lines are delivering record ships in 2026-2028, which expands OneSpaWorld's addressable base. Consumer spending on experiences (vs. goods) remains strong; wellness/spa is a high-margin, non-discretionary part of the cruise experience for affluent passengers.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $30.10 on vol >279% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 2.79x with RS line at new high post-earnings confirms institutional buying. Large float (98.8M) and $3B market cap suggest liquid, institutional-quality name. No insider buying reported in last 60d, but the post-earnings gap + RS leadership + Consumer Cyclical sector (not leading this week, but leisure is a sub-sector winner) supports follow-through.

EARNINGS

REPORTED

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Reported Oct 28 (yesterday). The +7% gap on 2.79x volume implies beat and strong guidance, likely driven by higher ship capacity and per-guest spending. OneSpaWorld typically has high visibility given multi-year cruise contracts.

KEY RISK

Setup invalidates on a close back below $28.70 gap support. Base_tight of 8.43 is very wide (highest in the scan), indicating prior volatility and loose price action; this increases risk of failed breakout. If cruise bookings soften or consumer spending rolls over, the thesis breaks.

ANALYSIS

Four positive signals: vol >2x, prox_52w 99.8%, rs_line_new_high, rs_vs_spy +12.6. Disconfirming: base_tight of 8.43 is extremely wide (worst in scan), no insider buying, and not in a leading sector. The wide base downgrades from A to B despite RS new high. Conviction: Medium - clean post-earnings gap but base quality is poor.

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Gapping on yesterday's earnings (Oct 28), likely driven by better-than-expected wireless revenue trends or cost discipline. Forward catalyst is Q4 earnings (late Feb) and potential strategic alternatives - Spok is a legacy pager/healthcare messaging company with sticky hospital contracts and FCF generation that could attract PE or strategic buyers in healthtech consolidation.

BUSINESS & POSITION

Spok provides critical communication and clinical alerting solutions for hospitals and healthcare organizations, including legacy pager services and modern secure messaging platforms. Despite the declining pager market, Spok has pivoted to cloud-based clinical workflow software and maintains sticky, mission-critical relationships with hospital IT departments.

FACTOR & THEME

Healthcare IT and digital transformation in hospitals. The company benefits from hospital investments in nurse/physician communication systems, EHR integration, and patient safety initiatives. Healthcare is the leading sector this week (+10.8% vs SPY), providing strong tailwind. Theme momentum is stable given secular healthcare IT spend.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $11.78 on vol >443% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 4.43x on post-earnings gap with small float (18.2M) creates squeeze potential. No insider buying and RS line not at new high downgrades institutional conviction. However, Healthcare sector leadership provides support. Sector tailwind alone does not justify A-grade without additional signals.

EARNINGS

REPORTED

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Reported Oct 28 (yesterday). +15.7% move suggests material beat or positive surprise on wireless revenue retention and/or margin expansion. Spok has been managing secular decline in pager business while growing software revenue; any acceleration would be re-rating catalyst.

KEY RISK

Invalidates below $10.80 gap support. RS line not at new high (prox_52w only 80.8%) means prior leaders are still stronger; this could be a laggard catch-up move rather than new leadership. If healthcare sector rotates or if Q4 shows reacceleration of pager churn, setup fails.

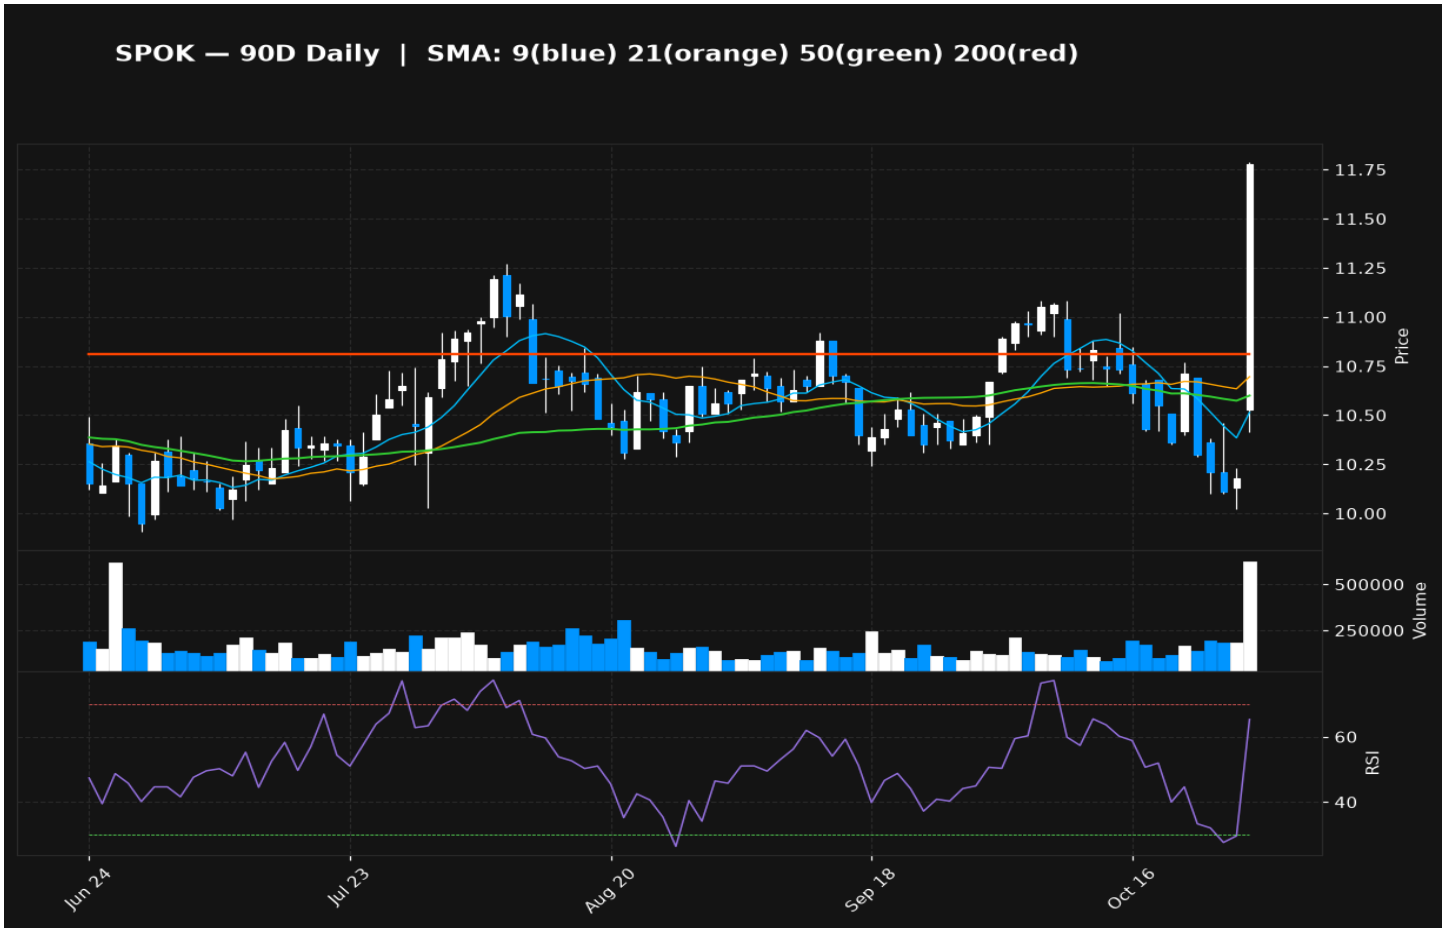

ANALYSIS

Sector tailwind (+10.8% Healthcare) + volume surge (4.43x) + earnings beat = solid B. Disconfirming: RS line NOT at new high (key Qullamaggie signal missing), prox_52w only 80.8% (not breakout zone), and no insider buying. Wide base (5.62). Healthcare sector leadership provides +0.5 boost but not enough to reach A without RS new high. Conviction: Medium.

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Gapping on yesterday's earnings (Oct 28), likely showing strong Q3 health and P&C insurance lead volume. Forward catalyst is Q4 earnings (Feb 2027) during annual enrollment period (AEP) for Medicare, which is MediaAlpha's highest revenue quarter; any guidance on 2027 AEP trends or new insurance carrier partnerships extends the thesis.

BUSINESS & POSITION

MediaAlpha operates a real-time, programmatic advertising platform connecting insurance carriers with consumers shopping for policies (auto, home, health, life). The company monetizes via cost-per-acquisition or cost-per-click from carriers like Progressive, Allstate, and UnitedHealth, with revenue tied to insurance shopping seasonality (Q4 Medicare AEP is peak).

FACTOR & THEME

Insurance distribution and digital lead generation. The shift from agent-driven to direct-to-consumer insurance shopping drives MediaAlpha's TAM. Theme momentum is mixed - insurance carriers have cut digital ad spend in prior quarters, but any stabilization/reacceleration would be positive surprise.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $14.13 on vol >303% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 3.03x with small float (25.1M) on post-earnings gap. RS line not at new high and no insider buying limit institutional conviction signal. The move appears driven by earnings beat rather than sustained accumulation; needs follow-through to confirm.

EARNINGS

REPORTED

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Reported Oct 28 (yesterday). +20.6% gap implies beat and/or positive commentary on Q4 Medicare AEP pipelines. MediaAlpha's Q4 is seasonally strongest; guidance for that quarter is key metric.

KEY RISK

Setup invalidates below $13.20 gap support or if Q4 guidance disappoints (AEP weakness). RS line not at new high (prox_52w 96% but rs_line_new_high=false) suggests prior resistance overhead; if follow-through fails in next 2-3 days, the gap fades.

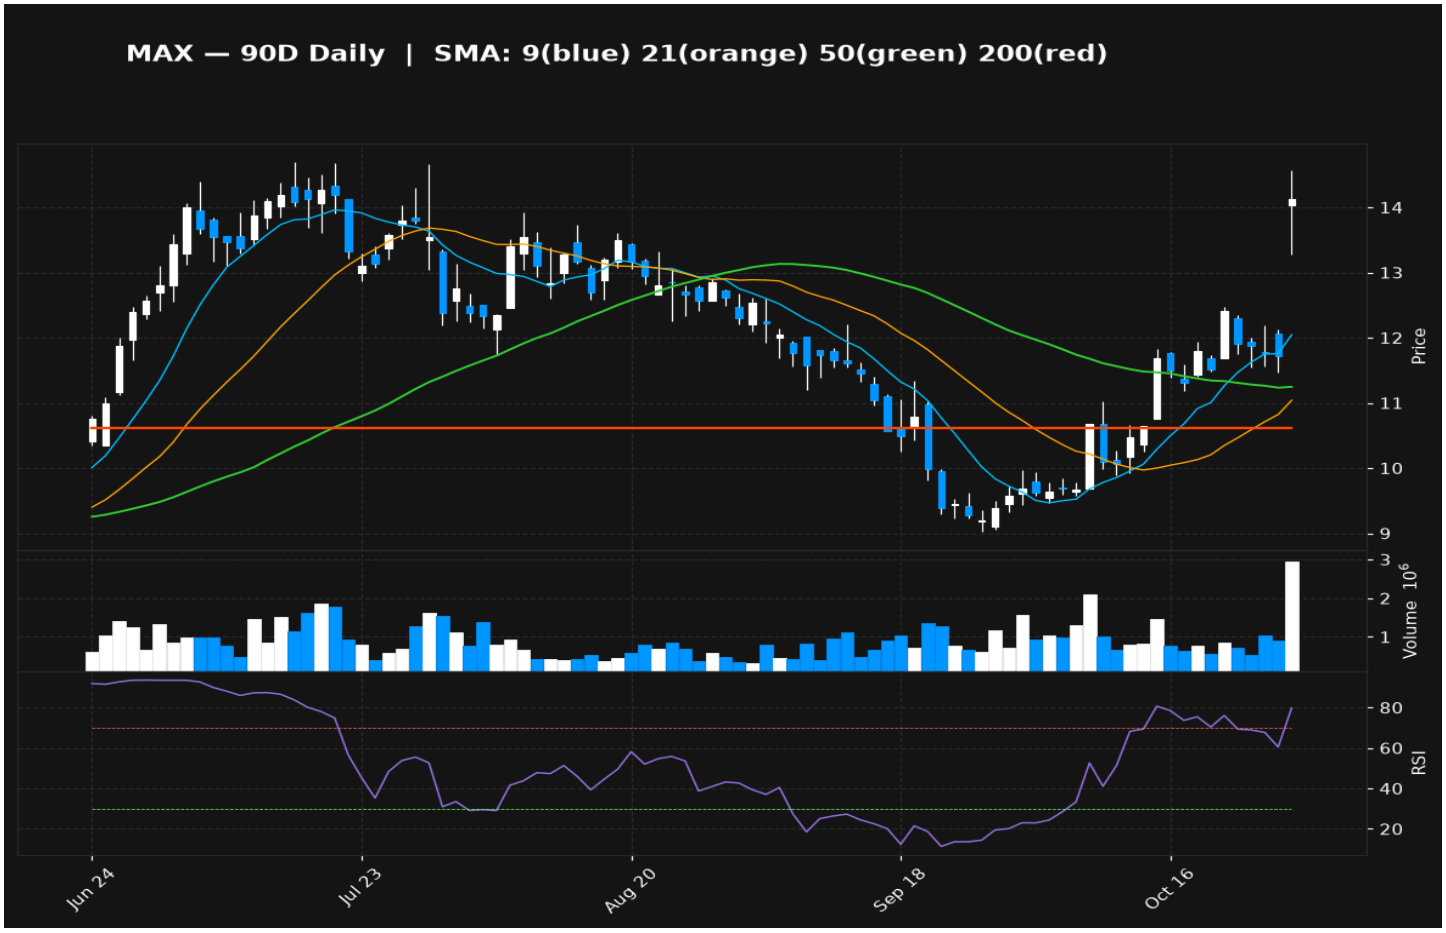

ANALYSIS

Volume 3.03x + prox_52w 96.1% + post-earnings catalyst = solid B. Disconfirming: RS line NOT at new high (critical signal missing), no insider buying, base is wide (4.81), and not in a leading sector. The gap move is strong but lacks technical confirmation from RS line. Conviction: Low-Medium - needs follow-through to prove this isn't a one-day earnings pop.

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Technical breakout with no same-day catalyst; likely benefiting from industrial sector strength or anticipation ahead of December earnings (48 days out). Forward catalyst is Q1 FY2027 earnings on Dec 16, which will include commentary on global industrial capex trends, infrastructure spending, and energy sector tool demand (Enerpac serves oil/gas, renewables, and construction).

BUSINESS & POSITION

Enerpac manufactures high-pressure hydraulic tools and controlled force products used in heavy industrial, infrastructure, and energy applications. The company serves niche markets (bolting, lifting, cutting) where its brand has quasi-monopoly positioning; customers include refineries, wind farms, mining operations, and construction contractors.

FACTOR & THEME

Industrial capex recovery and infrastructure spending. Enerpac benefits from onshoring/reshoring trends, renewable energy buildouts (wind turbine installation/maintenance), and oil & gas capex recovery. Theme momentum is stable; industrial machinery tied to long-cycle infrastructure projects provides visibility.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $39.42 on vol >273% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

EARNINGS

EARNINGS IN 48D

Next earnings Dec 16 (48 days out). No immediate catalyst; the move appears anticipatory or technical. Consensus and beat history not provided; if Enerpac has track record of beats, the Dec print could be re-rating opportunity.

KEY RISK

Invalidates below $37.50 breakout support or if December earnings disappoint on weak industrial end-market commentary. RS line not at new high and prox_52w 89.7% (not quite in breakout zone >90%) means there's overhead resistance; if volume doesn't follow through, this is a failed breakout.

ANALYSIS

Volume 2.73x + prox_52w 89.7% + earnings catalyst 48d forward = B-grade. Disconfirming: RS line not at new high, no insider buying, no same-day catalyst (pure technical move), and mixed macro regime reduces conviction for cyclical industrials. Base quality (4.64) is acceptable but not textbook. Conviction: Low - solid setup but lacks catalyst urgency and RS confirmation.

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Breaking out on Q3 earnings (today), likely showing better-than-expected collections or margin improvement in the rent-to-own segment (Upbound owns Rent-A-Center and Acima lease-to-own). Forward catalyst is Q4 holiday season results (reported Feb) and any commentary on credit quality / consumer payment trends, which drive investor sentiment on subprime consumer lenders.

BUSINESS & POSITION

Upbound Group (formerly Rent-A-Center) operates rent-to-own and lease-purchase businesses serving subprime consumers who lack access to traditional credit. The company provides furniture, electronics, and appliances via weekly/monthly payment plans with high effective APRs; revenue is a mix of rental income and merchandise sales.

FACTOR & THEME

Consumer finance and subprime lending. The company is a leveraged bet on low-income consumer health; improving employment and wage growth support payment rates, while rising delinquencies are a red flag. Theme momentum is mixed given macro uncertainty; subprime lenders are first to show stress in downturns.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $19.98 on vol >284% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 2.84x with small insider cluster (2 buys, $47K - immaterial size). RS vs SPY is NEGATIVE (-0.9%), which is a major red flag for momentum setups. The stock is breaking out on earnings but is not outperforming the market over 12 weeks, suggesting sector-specific buying rather than broad leadership.

EARNINGS

EARNINGS TODAY

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Q3 report today. +18% move implies beat and/or positive commentary on credit quality. Rent-to-own companies are highly sensitive to consumer payment behavior; any stabilization or improvement in charge-offs would be re-rating catalyst.

KEY RISK

Invalidates below $18.50 breakout or if earnings reveal rising delinquencies / consumer stress. Negative RS vs SPY (-0.9%) is disqualifying for A-grade momentum setups; the stock is underperforming despite today's pop. Wide base (6.16) and subprime consumer exposure make this high-risk in mixed macro.

ANALYSIS

Volume 2.84x + earnings catalyst + small insider buying (2 buys, $47K) = B-grade on catalyst alone. Disconfirming: RS vs SPY is NEGATIVE (-0.9%), which is disqualifying for momentum leadership; prox_52w 83.3% is below breakout zone; base is wide (6.16); subprime consumer exposure is macro-sensitive. The negative RS is the strongest disconfirming evidence. Conviction: Low - earnings-driven pop but not a momentum leader.

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Breaking out on Q3 earnings (today), likely showing strong demand in restructuring, forensic accounting, or litigation consulting (FTI's core). Forward catalyst is Q4 earnings (late Feb) which will include 2027 guidance; FTI typically benefits from economic volatility (restructuring), regulatory enforcement (forensics), and M&A disputes (litigation support) - all of which could accelerate if macro deteriorates.

BUSINESS & POSITION

FTI Consulting provides expert witness, forensic accounting, restructuring, and strategic communications services to corporations, law firms, and governments. The company is counter-cyclical in its restructuring segment (bankruptcy advisors) and acyclical in litigation/forensics; it commands premium hourly rates ($500-1000+) and has high barriers to entry (specialized expertise, court-approved expert panels).

FACTOR & THEME

Regulatory enforcement, corporate restructuring, and litigation tailwinds. FTI benefits from increased complexity in financial crimes, antitrust enforcement, and corporate distress. Theme momentum is accelerating given potential recession/restructuring cycle and ongoing regulatory scrutiny (SEC, DOJ investigations into fraud, ESG, crypto).

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $181.24 on vol >320% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 3.2x with small float (26.4M) on earnings day. No insider buying reported and RS line not at new high are negatives. However, consulting services have sticky demand and FTI is the category leader in forensics/restructuring. Mixed macro regime is actually a tailwind for FTI's counter-cyclical business.

EARNINGS

EARNINGS TODAY

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Q3 report today. +14.3% move suggests beat and strong guidance, likely driven by robust restructuring/forensics pipelines. FTI has history of raising guidance when macro uncertainty increases (more bankruptcies, disputes, investigations).

KEY RISK

Invalidates below $172 breakout or if earnings reveal project delays / weaker 2027 outlook. RS line not at new high (prox_52w 95.7% but rs_line_new_high=false) suggests prior resistance; base is wide (7.18 ATR). If restructuring cycle doesn't materialize, growth slows.

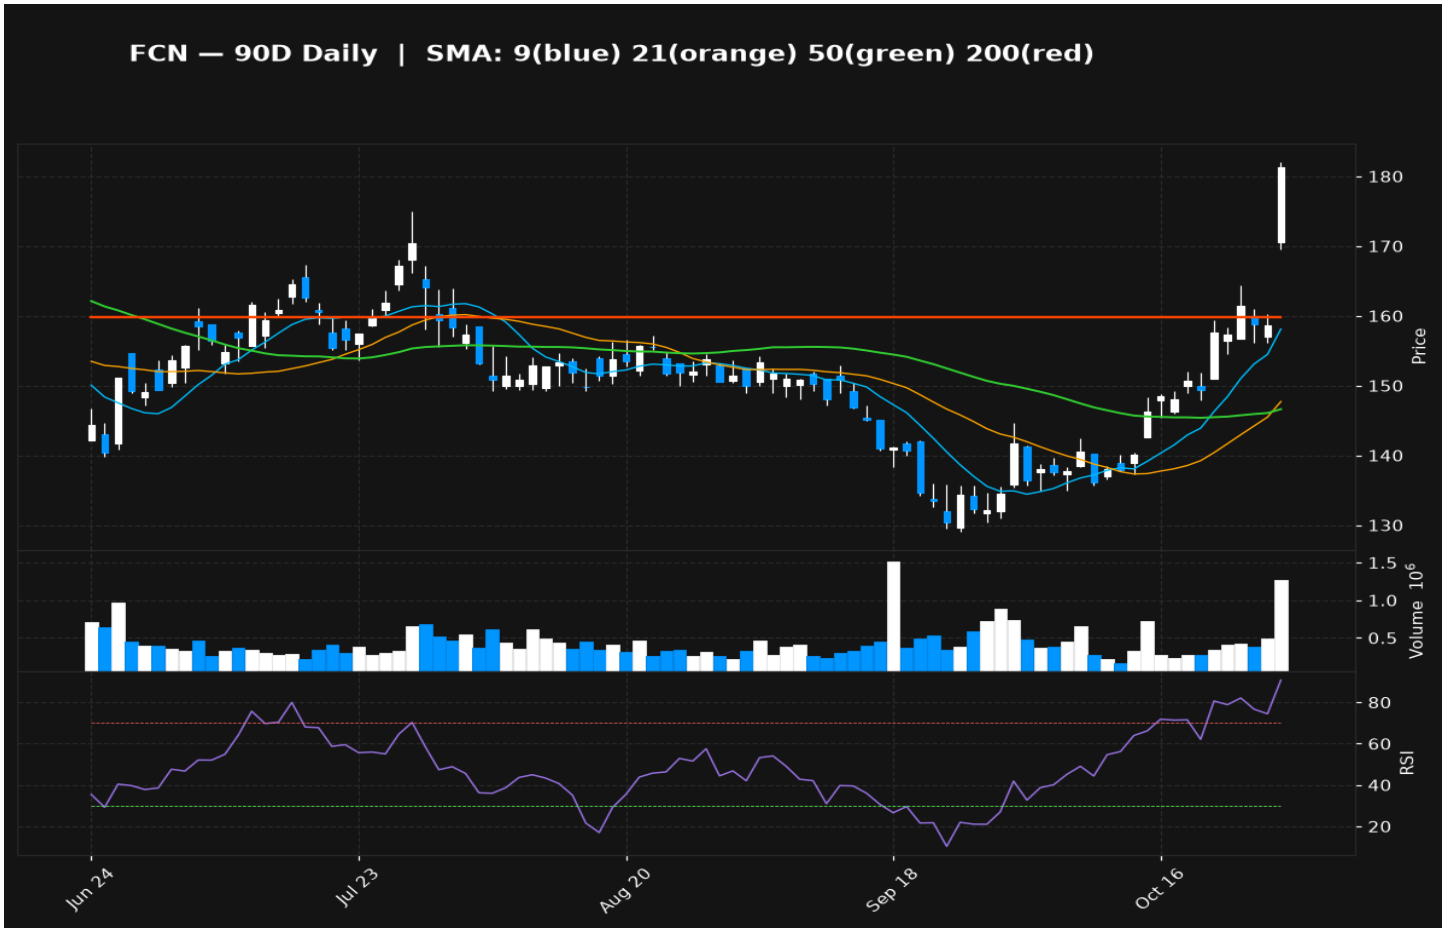

ANALYSIS

Volume 3.2x + earnings catalyst + counter-cyclical business model = solid B. Disconfirming: RS line NOT at new high (key signal missing), no insider buying, wide base (7.18), and at $5B market cap this is near the top of SMID range (less upside from here). The RS line not at new high downgrades from A. Conviction: Medium - strong business but setup lacks technical confirmation.

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Breaking out on Q3 earnings (today), likely showing better-than-expected enterprise CPaaS (communications platform as a service) revenue or margin expansion. Forward catalyst is Q4 earnings (late Feb) and any wins with large enterprise customers migrating voice/SMS/video infrastructure to Bandwidth's platform; also watch for Zoom, Microsoft Teams, or RingCentral partnership announcements.

BUSINESS & POSITION

Bandwidth provides cloud-based communications APIs and SIP trunking services, enabling enterprises and software developers to embed voice, messaging, and 911 services into applications. The company competes with Twilio, Vonage, and Plivo in the CPaaS market, differentiating via owned network infrastructure (vs. reselling carrier minutes) and enterprise focus.

FACTOR & THEME

Enterprise digital transformation and unified communications adoption. The shift from on-premise PBX to cloud communications and the growth of embedded communications (in-app calling, two-factor SMS) drive Bandwidth's TAM. Theme momentum is stable; CPaaS is a mature category with steady mid-teens growth.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $53.11 on vol >270% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume 2.7x on earnings day with base_tight of 2.96 (one of the tightest in the scan). No insider buying and RS line not at new high limit conviction. However, tight base + strong RS (+20.4 vs SPY) + small float (29M) suggest quiet accumulation prior to the print.

EARNINGS

EARNINGS TODAY

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Q3 report today. +9.6% move is more modest than others in this scan, suggesting inline-to-slight-beat rather than blowout. Needs strong Q4 guidance or new customer wins to extend momentum.

KEY RISK

Invalidates below $51 breakout support or if Q4 guidance disappoints. Prox_52w of 67.2% is well below breakout zone (needs >85%); the stock is mid-range, not at new highs. If it fails to break above $55-60 resistance in next few sessions, this is a failed setup.

ANALYSIS

Tight base (2.96, best in scan) + strong RS (+20.4) + vol 2.7x = B-grade. Disconfirming: prox_52w only 67.2% (nowhere near breakout zone), RS line not at new high, and no insider buying. The stock is breaking out from mid-range, not from a base near highs - this is early-stage momentum, not late-stage leadership. Conviction: Low-Medium - tight base is encouraging but needs to prove it can take out $60+ resistance.
