| Consumer discretionary recovery thesis; benefits from stable used-vehicle pricing and margin normalization post-inventory glut. Dealership consolidation (roll-up opportunity) and potential Fed rate cuts improving auto loan affordability are medium-term tailwinds.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

| INSIDER CLUSTER DETECTED: 6 open-market buys totaling $8.3M in the last 60 days with no senior officer participation but material dollar conviction. This is top-decile insider activity and a rare buy signal in auto retail. Float is tight at 10.3M shares; volume surge at 2.6x suggests institutions are following insider lead. Per upgrade rule, this merits grade elevation from B to A given the insider conviction and material dollar size.                                                                                                                 |

| GRADE UPGRADE APPLIED: insider_cluster=7 (6 buys, $8.3M) elevates this from B to A. Disconfirming evidence: RS is negative (-9.3 vs SPY), prox_52w is only 61.6 (not breakout zone), and macro is mixed-this is NOT a technical breakout but an insider-driven accumulation setup. However, insider buying is the single highest-alpha factor, and a $8.3M cluster in a $3.6B cap company is statistically rare and actionable. The Oct 27 catalyst provides a defined event path. Conviction: Medium (high on insider signal, tempered by weak RS and mixed macro). |

| Five technical criteria met: vol >2.5x, prox_52w >99, rs_line_new_high=true, rs_vs_spy +24, tight float (4M). RS line at new high is the key-this is a classic Qullamaggie leadership setup. Disconfirming evidence: base_tight is 4.31 (wider than ideal <2.0), and financials are generally late-cycle. However, energy sector tailwind and the Oct 14 catalyst provide a clear event path. | Catalyst / Today's DriverCurrent driver: RS line at new high + 15% single-day surge on 3.2x volume, breaking to within 2.5% of 52W high with no news-pure technical breakout. Forward catalyst: Nov 24 earnings (78d) where any stabilization in ag equipment demand (post-commodity price recovery) could drive upside surprise; tight float amplifies moves.                                                    |
| Business &amp; PositionTitan Machinery is the largest independent Case IH and New Holland agricultural equipment dealer network in North America, with 100+ locations. Revenue split: 60% equipment sales, 40% parts/service (recurring, high-margin).                                                                                                                                                            |
| Factor &amp; ThemeTied to farm income and commodity prices (corn, soy, wheat). Current ag cycle is bottoming after 2-year correction; any grain price recovery (weather, export demand) directly boosts farmer capex. Reshoring and domestic food security themes provide medium-term support.                                                                                                                    |

No insider buying in last 60d. Ag equipment stocks are under-owned and under-followed-this has incremental-buyer fuel if the commodity narrative turns.                                                                             |

| Earnings ContextNext print Nov 24. Last 4 quarters showed margin pressure from elevated inventory and dealer incentives. Consensus is looking for stabilization in equipment unit sales and any commentary on 2027 order book. A beat here would be a regime-change signal for the ag cycle.                                                                                                                      |
| Key RiskThesis invalid on a close below $24.00 (prior consolidation high) or if commodity prices (corn, soy) roll over; Nov 24 earnings are too far out to provide immediate support in a mixed macro environment.                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| AnalysisRS line at new high is a strong leadership signal, and prox_52w at 97.5 confirms breakout zone. Disconfirming evidence: base_tight is 6.04 (loose), RS vs SPY is only +5.4 (not leading strongly), and the Nov 24 catalyst is 78 days away-too distant to provide near-term support. The technical setup is solid, but the wide base and distant earnings downgrade this from A to B. Conviction: Medium. |

| Strong RS (+39.5) and prox_52w at 98.7 confirm this is a legitimate breakout, not a pump. Disconfirming evidence: RS line NOT at new high (leadership not confirmed), base_tight is 5.24 (loose), and the stock is extended 22% in one day with no immediate forward catalyst (next earnings 90+ days out). This is a post-earnings momentum candidate, not a fresh setup. The gap needs to hold and digest before becoming buyable. Conviction: Medium (on a pullback to $21-22). |

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Current driver: 9% post-earnings move on 3.2x volume after reporting 4 days ago (Sept 3); likely beat driven by digital lending margin strength. Forward catalyst: next earnings ~90 days out; near-term catalyst path unclear, but any commentary on U.S. expansion or fintech partnership could drive follow-through.

BUSINESS & POSITION

VersaBank is a Canadian digital-only bank focused on commercial real estate lending, point-of-sale financing, and cybersecurity services. No physical branches; operates a high-efficiency, high-ROE model with differentiated digital receivables platform.

FACTOR & THEME

Levered to Canadian commercial real estate market and digital lending adoption. Cybersecurity services division (VersaVault) taps secular data-security theme. Benefits from rate normalization (NIM expansion) but exposed to Canadian housing cycle risk.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $22.41 on vol >319% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume at 3.2x on a 20.8M float suggests institutional buying post-earnings. Prox_52w at 89.5 confirms breakout zone. No insider buying data. Canadian banks are under-owned by U.S. institutional investors-this has incremental-buyer potential if the digital banking narrative gains traction.

EARNINGS

REPORTED

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Just reported 4 days ago (Sept 3). The 9% move suggests a beat, likely on loan growth and NIM. Next print is ~90 days out (early December).

KEY RISK

Thesis invalid on a close below $20.50 (prior resistance), signaling the post-earnings gap is failing; or if Canadian commercial real estate credit metrics deteriorate (NPL uptick), removing fundamental support.

Prox_52w at 89.5 and RS +9.7 confirm this is in breakout territory post-earnings. Disconfirming evidence: base_tight is 4.96 (loose), RS line NOT at new high (no leadership confirmation), and forward catalyst path is unclear (next earnings 90+ days out). This is a post-earnings follow-through candidate, not a fresh pre-catalyst setup. Conviction: Medium (watch for consolidation above $22).

| Strong RS (+34.2), prox_52w at 96.8, and Healthcare sector leadership support this. Disconfirming evidence: RS line NOT at new high, base_tight is 5.31 (loose), and the specific catalyst timing is unclear-this is speculation ahead of a binary event, not a de-risked setup. The Nov 9 earnings call may clarify the Phase 3 timeline, but until then this is a watch for confirmation. Conviction: Medium (high risk/reward, but binary). |

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Current driver: 11% move on 2.6x volume, likely linked to gold spot price strength (gold at multi-year highs) driving transaction volume. Forward catalyst: Nov 5 earnings (59d) could show margin expansion if gold volatility drove higher transaction fees; macro uncertainty (geopolitical, inflation) sustains gold demand tailwind.

BUSINESS & POSITION

Gold.com operates an e-commerce platform for buying/selling physical gold, silver, and other precious metals. Revenue is transaction-fee based; benefits from gold price volatility and retail investor demand for inflation hedges. Low-capex, high-margin model.

FACTOR & THEME

Direct leverage to gold spot price and macro uncertainty (inflation, geopolitical risk). Fed policy pivot (rate cuts) and recession fears historically drive gold rallies. Energy sector strength (+6.8%) often coincides with commodity/gold strength.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $46.13 on vol >256% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume at 2.6x on a 19.9M float is modest but notable. At $1.34B market cap, this is a micro-cap levered beta play on gold-likely attracts momentum/thematic ETFs and retail. No insider buying in last 60d. Base_tight at 2.63 is decent but not VCP-quality.

EARNINGS

EARNINGS IN 59D

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Next print Nov 5 (59d). Consensus will focus on transaction volume growth and take rate (fee margin). If gold volatility spiked in Q3, this should show in revenue; guidance on Q4 (seasonally strong) matters.

KEY RISK

Thesis invalid if gold spot price rolls over below $2,400/oz (removes the fundamental driver) or if Nov 5 earnings show margin compression despite higher transaction volume; prox_52w at 69.2 means this is NOT in breakout zone yet.

ANALYSIS

Modest RS (+9.6) and base_tight of 2.63 (tightest in the list) suggest this is a coiling pattern, but prox_52w at 69.2 means it's NOT in breakout zone yet-this needs to clear $55+ to be actionable. Disconfirming evidence: RS line not at new high, no insider buying, and the gold rally may already be priced in. This is a watch for a breakout above $55, not a buy here. Conviction: Low (wait for breakout confirmation).

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

Current driver: 5% move on 2.5x volume, approaching breakout zone (82.2% of 52W high). Forward catalyst: Dec 3 earnings (87d) where any stabilization in dealer inventory levels or pricing commentary could signal a turn in the powersports cycle; Sea-Doo/Can-Am product refresh cycle in 2027 provides medium-term support.

BUSINESS & POSITION

BRP designs and manufactures powersports vehicles: Sea-Doo watercraft, Ski-Doo snowmobiles, Can-Am ATVs/side-by-sides, and Lynx snowmobiles. Global leader with premium brand positioning; recurring revenue from parts/accessories (25% of sales).

FACTOR & THEME

Consumer discretionary recovery thesis; levered to outdoor recreation and experiential spending. Electrification of powersports (electric Sea-Doo, Can-Am models) taps EV theme. Vulnerable to consumer confidence and financing availability.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $67.32 on vol >247% of 20d avg

INSTITUTIONAL

Volume at 2.5x on a 36.2M float is decent but not explosive. Base_tight at 2.99 is one of the better readings in this list. No insider buying in last 60d. At $4.79B market cap, BRP is widely held but out of favor post-COVID boom; incremental buyers may return if the Dec 3 print shows inventory normalization.

EARNINGS

EARNINGS IN 87D

EARNINGS CONTEXT

Next print Dec 3 (87d). Last 4 quarters showed margin pressure from elevated dealer inventory and promotional activity. Consensus is looking for volume stabilization and any commentary on 2027 model-year order book. This is a show-me story.

KEY RISK

Thesis invalid on a close below $64.00 (20MA support) or if Dec 3 earnings show continued dealer inventory build or pricing pressure; consumer discretionary is vulnerable in a mixed macro regime.

ANALYSIS

Prox_52w at 82.2 is near breakout zone, and base_tight at 2.99 is solid. Disconfirming evidence: RS +7.0 is barely positive, RS line not at new high, and the Dec 3 catalyst is 87 days out-too distant to provide support. This is a watch for a breakout above $70 (prior resistance), not a buy here. Conviction: Low (needs confirmation).
