CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER
Today's 17% surge suggests either a major contract win, FDA approval, or preannounced earnings beat. Forward catalyst: November 5 earnings print in 28 days (Earnings, High impact) offers immediate re-rating opportunity if guidance confirms acceleration.
BUSINESS & POSITION
Haemonetics is a global provider of blood management and plasma collection equipment, serving hospital and blood center markets. The company's portfolio includes devices for automated blood collection, surgical blood salvage, and plasma donor management systems.
FACTOR & THEME
Healthcare supply chain normalization and hospital procedure volume recovery post-pandemic. Aging demographics driving increased demand for blood products and surgical interventions. Not directly tied to hot themes (AI, GLP-1), but benefits from healthcare system stabilization.
BREAKOUT SIGNAL
Close above $119.47 on vol >490% of 20d avg
INSTITUTIONAL
Explosive 4.91x average volume on the 17% move signals institutional block buying, not retail FOMO. The small 44.9M float amplifies impact of institutional flows. No insider buying in the last 90 days weakens conviction slightly, though the volume profile today suggests smart money is entering aggressively ahead of the November 5 print.
EARNINGS
EARNINGS IN 28D
EARNINGS CONTEXT
Next report November 5. Without consensus data provided, cannot assess beat history, but the magnitude of today's move (17%) suggests either a preannouncement or leaked anticipation of a material positive surprise.
KEY RISK
Thesis invalidated on a close back below $105 (prior base), or on any guidance disappointment at the November 5 print. Single-day 17% gaps can reverse violently if the catalyst is already fully discounted.
ANALYSIS
Disconfirming evidence: RS line NOT at new high despite being near 52W high-institutional confirmation signal missing. Base is wide (6.17 vs. <2.0 ideal). The 17% gap creates extended entry risk; ideal setups break cleanly from tight coils, not explosive one-day moves. However, massive volume surge + Healthcare sector strength + earnings in 28 days creates follow-through potential if today's move was front-running good news. Conviction: Medium. Explosive move with forward catalyst, but lack of RS line new high and wide base prevent A-grade. Vulnerable to profit-taking if catalyst already fully priced.

Analysis
Catalyst / Today's Driver Stock at 52W high on a textbook VCP coil (base_tight 1.73). No same-day news, suggesting pure technical breakout. Forward catalyst: October 29 earnings in 21 days (Earnings, High impact) offers immediate re-rating if cardiac rhythm management and neuromodulation guidance surprises.
Business & Position Integer is a medical device outsource manufacturer specializing in components for cardiac, neuromodulation, and vascular products. The company serves major OEMs including pacemaker and neurostimulator manufacturers, benefiting from structural growth in chronic disease management.
Factor & Theme Aging demographics and rising chronic disease prevalence drive secular demand for cardiac and neuro devices. Hospital procedure normalization post-COVID tailwind. Not a hot theme stock, but solid Healthcare sector strength (+1.7% vs SPY this week) provides supportive backdrop.
Breakout Signal Close above $126.65 on vol >161% of 20d avg
Institutional Volume only 1.61x average despite being at 52W high-classic 'silent build' characteristic where institutions absorb supply without spiking price. Small 33.7M float means modest buying creates outsized price impact. No insider buying in last 90 days is a neutral, not a negative. The textbook 1.73 base tightness signals supply exhaustion.
Earnings Earnings in 21D
Earnings Context Next report October 29 in 21 days. Without consensus data, cannot assess beat history, but proximity to earnings with stock at new highs suggests institutional positioning ahead of anticipated beat.
Key Risk Thesis invalidated on a close back below $122 (prior consolidation base), or on any guidance cut at the October 29 print. Tight float can reverse as violently as it advances.
Analysis Disconfirming evidence: RS line NOT at new high despite prox_52w at 99.9-this is the single strongest argument against an A-grade. Volume surge is modest (1.61x) vs. ideal >2x for institutional confirmation. However, the 1.73 base_tight is textbook VCP, +27.8 RS vs SPY is strong, and earnings in 21 days create immediate catalyst. Healthcare sector strength provides tailwind. This is a classic 'coiled spring' setup one technical criterion short of A-grade. Conviction: Medium. Clean technical setup with imminent catalyst, but lack of RS line new high and modest volume keep it at B.
Signal: Close above $126.65 on vol >161% of 20d avg Vol vs Avg: 1.61x
