

SMID BREAKOUT SCANNER

MARKET CLOSE

August 11, 2026 | 03:12 PM ET

15 setups identified | 2 A-Grade | 7 B-Grade | 6 C-Grade

Grade Summary

| A - Breakout Setup (2) | B - Strong Setup (7) | C - Watch List (6) |
|------------------------|----------------------|--------------------|
| ALMR                   | FF                   | ZLAB               |
| SEPN                   | AUTL                 | CODI               |
|                        | MLAB                 | RNW                |
|                        | SMC                  | NN                 |
|                        | MG                   | VALN               |
|                        | HEPS                 | ALEC               |
|                        | CBLL                 |                    |

All Setups

| Gr | Ticker | Company          | Theme             | Price    | Chg %  | Cap    | Float | RS/SPY | 52W Hi | Catalyst               |
|----|--------|------------------|-------------------|----------|--------|--------|-------|--------|--------|------------------------|
| A  | ALMR   | Alamar Bioscienc | Healthcare Innova | $37.72  | +34.8% | $2.6B | 36M   | +59.6  | 100%   | 35% surge driven by co |
| A  | SEPN   | Septerna, Inc.   | Biotech Innovatio | $46.37  | +19.3% | $2.1B | 24M   | +82.1  | 98%    | 19% surge extending mu |
| B  | FF     | FutureFuel Corp. | Specialty Chemica | $6.38   | +23.6% | $0.3B | 25M   | +52.6  | 91%    | 24% surge with RS line |
| B  | AUTL   | Autolus Therapeu | Cell Therapy      | $2.38   | +15.2% | $0.6B | 34M   | +44.5  | 95%    | 15% surge ahead of tod |
| B  | MLAB   | Mesa Laboratorie | Quality Instrumen | $109.54 | +7.8%  | $0.6B | 5M    | +1.2   | 96%    | 8% move on 2.8x volume |
| B  | SMC    | Summit Midstream | Energy Infrastruc | $34.81  | +9.3%  | $0.5B | 2M    | +12.8  | 99%    | 9% surge to 99.3% of 5 |
| B  | MG     | Mistras Group In | Industrial Servic | $18.93  | +19.9% | $0.6B | 13M   | +7.8   | 96%    | 20% surge to 96.4% of  |
| B  | HEPS   | D-Market Electro | Turkish E-commerc | $2.91   | +5.6%  | $1.0B | 30M   | +5.0   | 88%    | 6% follow-through move |
| B  | CBLL   | CeriBell, Inc.   | MedTech Devices   | $21.40  | +10.9% | $0.8B | 26M   | +23.2  | 88%    | 11% surge on 3.8x volu |
| C  | ZLAB   | Zai Lab Limited  | China Biopharma   | $26.05  | +10.5% | $2.9B | 92M   | +28.8  | 71%    | 11% surge on 3.0x volu |
| C  | CODI   | D/B/A Compass Di | Diversified Holdi | $12.42  | +12.1% | $0.9B | 62M   | -0.8   | 94%    | 12% surge on 3.8x volu |
| C  | RNW    | ReNew Energy Glo | India Renewables  | $6.82   | +11.3% | $2.5B | 62M   | +20.7  | 83%    | 11% surge on massive 2 |
| C  | NN     | NextNav Inc.     | Positioning Tech  | $17.57  | +13.9% | $2.4B | 67M   | -17.1  | 72%    | 14% surge on 3.8x volu |
| C  | VALN   | Valneva SE       | Vaccines          | $5.65   | +6.6%  | $0.6B | 74M   | -10.4  | 46%    | 7% move on 3.3x volume |
| C  | ALEC   | Alector, Inc.    | Neuroscience Biot | $2.06   | +21.6% | $0.2B | 93M   | -9.4   | 60%    | 22% surge on 7.3x volu |

| SETUP METRICS |              |
|---------------|--------------|
| Price         | $37.72      |
| Day Change    | +34.76%      |
| Mkt Cap       | $2.61B      |
| Float         | 36M sh       |
| RS vs SPY     | +59.6%       |
| 52W Hi Prox   | 100%         |
| Base Tight    | 5.93         |
| Vol vs Avg    | 6.1x         |
| RS Line Hi    | YES          |
| Above 50MA    | -            |
| Fwd P/E       | -            |
| Short %       | -            |
| Days to Cover | -            |
| Inst. Own     | - (data lag) |

| ANALYSIS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 35% surge driven by continuation of biomarker technology adoption momentum; RS line at new high signals early institutional leadership. Forward catalyst: November 5 earnings print will validate commercial traction and expansion of NULISA proteomics platform adoption among biopharma partners and research institutions.                                                                                                                                  |
| BUSINESS & POSITION                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Alamar develops ultra-high sensitivity proteomics technology (NULISA platform) enabling detection of proteins at concentrations 1,000x lower than conventional methods, serving drug discovery and diagnostics markets. The company is rapidly commercializing its platform among biopharma partners for precision medicine applications.                                                                                                                       |
| FACTOR & THEME                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Direct exposure to precision medicine/biomarker discovery tailwind, a secular growth theme accelerating as pharma pivots to targeted therapeutics. Healthcare sector outperforming SPY by +4.2% this week provides favorable macro backdrop.                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| BREAKOUT SIGNAL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Close above $37.72 on volume >6.0x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| INSTITUTIONAL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 6.1x volume surge on 35% move suggests institutional block accumulation; tight float (36M) creates leverage for sustained buying. No insider activity in last 60 days, but RS line at new high is Qullamaggie's #1 signal for early institutional positioning ahead of broader recognition.                                                                                                                                                                     |
| EARNINGS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| EARNINGS IN 86D                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| EARNINGS CONTEXT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| November 5 earnings; consensus/beat history unavailable for this growth-stage name. Commercial revenue inflection will be key metric to validate platform adoption trajectory.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| KEY RISK                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Thesis invalidated on close below $33.50 (prior resistance now support), or any delay in commercial partnership announcements at the November 5 print. Pre-revenue volatility risk remains elevated.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| ANALYSIS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| RS line at new high + near 52W high + Healthcare sector momentum = textbook Qullamaggie setup. Disconfirming: base_tight at 5.93 is wider than ideal (want <2.0), signaling volatility rather than tight institutional absorption. However, the combination of RS leadership, sector tailwind, and 86 days of runway to next catalyst earns the A. Conviction: Medium - great technical structure but wide base and pre-commercial risk temper full conviction. |
| Signal: Close above $37.72 on volume >6.0x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Vol vs Avg: 6.1x                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

SEPN

Septerna, Inc.

$46.37

+19.34%

RS vs SPY: +82.1%

A BREAKOUT

$2.1B Cap | 24M Float

Biotechnology | Theme: Biotech Innovation | 52W Hi: 98% | Base Tight: 4.94 | Vol: 3.0x | RS/SPY: +82.1% | Above 20MA: YES | EARNINGS IN 90D

| SETUP METRICS |              |
|---------------|--------------|
| Price         | $46.37      |
| Day Change    | +19.34%      |
| Mkt Cap       | $2.09B      |
| Float         | 24M sh       |
| RS vs SPY     | +82.1%       |
| 52W Hi Prox   | 98%          |
| Base Tight    | 4.94         |
| Vol vs Avg    | 3.0x         |
| RS Line Hi    | YES          |
| Above 50MA    | -            |
| Fwd P/E       | -            |
| Short %       | -            |
| Days to Cover | -            |
| Inst. Own     | - (data lag) |

| ANALYSIS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 19% surge extending multi-month outperformance (RS +82 vs SPY); RS line at new high confirms institutional leadership in GPCR drug discovery platform. Forward catalyst: November 9 earnings will reveal pipeline advancement and potential partnership announcements; biotech sector momentum (+6.2% vs SPY) supports sustained multiple expansion.                                                                                                          |
| BUSINESS & POSITION                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Septerna is pioneering Native Complex Platform for G protein-coupled receptor (GPCR) drug discovery, targeting historically 'undruggable' receptors representing 30% of all FDA-approved drugs. Platform enables discovery of oral small molecules against challenging GPCR targets with significant commercial potential.                                                                                                                                    |
| FACTOR & THEME                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Direct exposure to biotech innovation theme with focus on novel drug modalities; GPCR market represents $90B+ opportunity. Healthcare sector leading (+6.2% vs SPY) with biotech subsector experiencing renewed institutional interest in differentiated platforms.                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| BREAKOUT SIGNAL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Close above $46.37 on volume >3.0x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| INSTITUTIONAL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 3.0x volume on 19% move with RS line at new high = classic institutional breakout signature. Tight float (23.9M) amplifies buying pressure. No recent insider activity, but extreme RS outperformance (+82 vs SPY over 12 weeks) signals sustained fund accumulation.                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| EARNINGS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| EARNINGS IN 90D                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| EARNINGS CONTEXT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| November 9 earnings; as early-stage biotech, focus will be on pipeline milestones (preclinical/Phase 1 data) and partnership revenue rather than traditional EPS metrics. History unavailable for this recently public name.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| KEY RISK                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Thesis invalidated on close below $42.00 (prior consolidation support), or any clinical trial setback/partnership termination at November 9 update. Binary clinical risk inherent to early-stage biotech.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| ANALYSIS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Exceptional RS (+82 vs SPY) + RS line new high + sector leadership + prox_52w 97.8% = elite setup. Disconfirming: base_tight 4.94 shows volatility, not tight institutional coiling. But RS leadership this extreme, especially with Healthcare sector momentum, overrides base width concerns. Conviction: High - this is the kind of under-owned, early-stage platform play with 90-day catalyst runway that offers asymmetric upside if pipeline delivers. |
| Signal: Close above $46.37 on volume >3.0x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Vol vs Avg: 3.0x                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

FF

FutureFuel Corp.

$6.38

+23.64%

RS vs SPY: +52.6%

B STRONG SETUP

$0.3B Cap | 25M Float

Specialty Chemicals | Theme: Specialty Chemicals | 52W Hi: 91% | Base Tight: 6.62 | Vol: 10.5x | RS/SPY: +52.6% | Above 20MA: YES | EARNINGS IN 90D

| Setup Metrics |             |
|---------------|-------------|
| Price         | $6.38      |
| Day Change    | +23.64%     |
| Mkt Cap       | $0.28B     |
| Float         | 25M sh      |
| RS vs SPY     | +52.6%      |
| 52W Hi Prox   | 91%         |
| Base Tight    | 6.62        |
| Vol vs Avg    | 10.5x       |
| RS Line Hi    | YES         |
| Above 50MA    | -           |
| Fwd P/E       | -           |
| Short %       | -           |
| Days to Cover | -           |
| Inst. Own     | -(data lag) |

| Analysis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Catalyst / Today's Driver                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 24% surge with RS line at new high signals breakout from multi-month base; likely driven by specialty chemicals margin expansion and biofuels segment recovery. Forward catalyst: November 9 earnings will reveal impact of renewable diesel incentives and custom chemical contract wins; Materials sector momentum (+3.4% vs SPY) supports continued re-rating.                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Business & Position                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| FutureFuel produces specialty chemicals (custom manufacturing for industrial applications) and biofuels (biodiesel, renewable diesel), serving diverse end markets. The company benefits from dual exposure to chemical manufacturing margins and renewable fuel policy tailwinds.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Factor & Theme                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Exposure to energy transition (renewable diesel) and industrial reshoring (custom chemicals for domestic manufacturing). Materials sector outperforming, though 24% move may partially discount near-term catalysts. Small-cap with limited analyst coverage offers discovery premium.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Breakout Signal                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Close above $6.38 on volume >10.0x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Institutional                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 10.5x volume explosion on 24% move suggests significant institutional discovery or reallocation event. Micro-cap ($280M) with tight float (25.4M) creates volatility but also leverage for sustained flows. RS line at new high confirms this is early-stage leadership, not late-cycle chase.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Earnings                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Earnings in 90D                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Earnings Context                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| November 9 earnings; specialty chemical margins and biofuel segment profitability will be key drivers. Consensus unavailable for thinly-followed micro-cap; historical volatility around prints is high.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Key Risk                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Thesis invalidated on close below $5.80 (50% retracement of today's surge), or any margin guidance disappointment at November 9 print. Single-day 24% move on wide base (6.62) suggests headline-driven volatility rather than disciplined accumulation; risk of giveback is elevated.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Analysis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| RS line new high + strong RS (+52.6) + sector tailwind argue for A, but base_tight 6.62 (extremely wide) + extreme single-day move (24% on 10x vol) signal headline-driven volatility, not institutional VCP-style accumulation. This is a discovery event, not a coiled breakout. Downgrade to B. Disconfirming: zero insider buying in a micro-cap where management conviction would be highly visible. Conviction: Low - explosive move lacks the technical discipline and insider validation for high-conviction follow-through; treat as a trade, not a position. |
| Signal: Close above $6.38 on volume >10.0x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Vol vs Avg: 10.5x                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

AUTL

Autolus Therapeutics plc

$2.38

+15.22%

RS vs SPY: +44.5%

B STRONG SETUP

$0.6B Cap | 34M Float

Biotechnology | Theme: Cell Therapy | 52W Hi: 95% | Base Tight: 6.66 | Vol: 2.95x | RS/SPY: +44.5% | Above 20MA: YES | EARNINGS TODAY

| SETUP METRICS |              |
|---------------|--------------|
| Price         | $2.38       |
| Day Change    | +15.22%      |
| Mkt Cap       | $0.63B      |
| Float         | 34M sh       |
| RS vs SPY     | +44.5%       |
| 52W Hi Prox   | 95%          |
| Base Tight    | 6.66         |
| Vol vs Avg    | 2.95x        |
| RS Line Hi    | YES          |
| Above 50MA    | -            |
| Fwd P/E       | -            |
| Short %       | -            |
| Days to Cover | -            |
| Inst. Own     | - (data lag) |

| ANALYSIS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 15% surge ahead of today's earnings; RS line at new high signals sustained institutional interest in CAR-T pipeline. Immediate catalyst: TODAY's earnings will reveal obe-cel (T-cell lymphoma) commercial launch progress and potential EU approval timeline; Healthcare sector strength (+6.2% vs SPY) supports biotech multiple expansion.                                                                                                                                                                   |
| BUSINESS & POSITION                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Autolus develops programmed T-cell therapies for cancer, with lead asset obe-cel approved in U.S. for relapsed/refractory B-cell lymphoma. The company is navigating commercial launch while advancing pipeline candidates in solid tumors using proprietary binder technology.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| FACTOR & THEME                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Direct cell therapy exposure, a biotech subsector seeing renewed institutional flows as commercial CAR-T landscape matures beyond pioneer franchises. Healthcare sector leadership this week provides favorable macro for specialty biopharma breakouts.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| BREAKOUT SIGNAL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Close above $2.38 on volume >2.9x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| INSTITUTIONAL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 2.95x volume on 15% move into earnings suggests positioning ahead of commercial update. RS line at new high is significant for a name that's been range-bound - indicates institutional re-evaluation underway. Zero insider buying in last 60 days is neutral for UK-domiciled ADR where insider disclosure differs.                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| EARNINGS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| EARNINGS TODAY                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| EARNINGS CONTEXT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Earnings TODAY (after close or tomorrow pre-market); consensus unavailable. Key metrics: obe-cel launch revenue trajectory, EU approval timeline, and cash runway. Biotech earnings are binary; expect 20%+ post-print volatility.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| KEY RISK                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Thesis invalidated on close below $2.10 (recent consolidation floor), or any obe-cel sales miss / EU approval delay disclosed in today's print. Event risk is immediate and binary.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| ANALYSIS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| RS line new high + prox_52w 95.4% + Healthcare momentum are strong positives, but EARNINGS TODAY creates immediate binary risk that disqualifies A-grade (A-grades need runway, not same-day event risk). Base_tight 6.66 (very wide) confirms volatility, not accumulation. This is a tactical speculation ahead of a known binary event, not a positional breakout. Conviction: Low - result is unknowable hours from now; edge exists only for those with commercial insight or willing to gamble the print. |
| Signal: Close above $2.38 on volume >2.9x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Vol vs Avg: 2.95x                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

MLAB

Mesa Laboratories, Inc.

$109.54

+7.79%

RS vs SPY: +1.2%

B STRONG SETUP

$0.6B Cap | 5M Float

Scientific & Technical Instruments | Theme: Quality Instrumentation | 52W Hi: 96% | Base Tight: 2.14 | Vol: 2.83x | RS/SPY: +1.2% | Above 20MA: YES | EARNINGS IN 86D

| Setup Metrics |              |
|---------------|--------------|
| Price         | $109.54     |
| Day Change    | +7.79%       |
| Mkt Cap       | $0.61B      |
| Float         | 5M sh        |
| RS vs SPY     | +1.2%        |
| 52W Hi Prox   | 96%          |
| Base Tight    | 2.14         |
| Vol vs Avg    | 2.83x        |
| RS Line Hi    | no           |
| Above 50MA    | -            |
| Fwd P/E       | -            |
| Short %       | -            |
| Days to Cover | -            |
| Inst. Own     | - (data lag) |

| Analysis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Catalyst / Today's Driver                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 8% move on 2.8x volume, approaching 52W high with a textbook tight base (2.14 ATR ratio = VCP-quality coil). Likely driven by medical device/sterilization validation equipment demand recovery. Forward catalyst: November 5 earnings will validate margin expansion and order book strength in biologics quality control segment; tight float (4.9M) amplifies any positive surprise.                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Business & Position                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Mesa manufactures quality control instruments for regulated industries (pharma, medical device, food safety), with focus on sterilization validation and cold-chain monitoring. The company serves mission-critical compliance applications with high switching costs and recurring revenue model.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Factor & Theme                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Indirect beneficiary of biopharma manufacturing buildout (sterilization validation for GMP facilities) and medical device quality requirements. Defensive quality exposure with regulatory tailwind as FDA enforcement increases.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Breakout Signal                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Close above $109.54 on volume >2.8x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Institutional                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 2.83x volume surge with base_tight 2.14 = classic institutional accumulation pattern (VCP-style coil). Extremely tight float (4.9M shares) means modest institutional interest creates outsized price moves. No recent insider activity, but base tightness speaks to controlled absorption.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Earnings                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Earnings in 86D                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Earnings Context                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| November 5 earnings; small-cap instrumentation company with lumpy project-driven revenue. Historical pattern: tends to beat on margin discipline even when topline is choppy. Consensus unavailable for thinly-covered name.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Key Risk                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Thesis invalidated on close below $104.00 (base breakout level), or any order guidance disappointment at November 5 print. Micro-float (4.9M) cuts both ways: illiquidity risk on any sell-side flow.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Analysis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Base_tight 2.14 (textbook VCP) + prox_52w 96.1% + volume surge are excellent, but RS barely positive (+1.2 vs SPY) and rs_line_new_high = false disqualify A-grade. This is a quality setup lacking relative strength confirmation - technical structure is elite, but market leadership signal is absent. Disconfirming: in a mega-cap led regime, a +1.2 RS small-cap without RS line new high faces structural headwind. Conviction: Medium - the base quality is institutional-grade, but wait for RS line confirmation or upgrade to A on sustained outperformance. |
| Signal: Close above $109.54 on volume >2.8x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Vol vs Avg: 2.83x                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

SMC

Summit Midstream Corporation

$34.81

+9.33%

RS vs SPY: +12.8%

B STRONG SETUP

$0.5B Cap | 2M Float

Oil & Gas Midstream | Theme: Energy Infrastructure | 52W Hi: 99% | Base Tight: 3.66 | Vol: 2.93x | RS/SPY: +12.8% | Above 20MA: YES | EARNINGS IN 90D

| SETUP METRICS |              |
|---------------|--------------|
| Price         | $34.81      |
| Day Change    | +9.33%       |
| Mkt Cap       | $0.48B      |
| Float         | 2M sh        |
| RS vs SPY     | +12.8%       |
| 52W Hi Prox   | 99%          |
| Base Tight    | 3.66         |
| Vol vs Avg    | 2.93x        |
| RS Line Hi    | no           |
| Above 50MA    | -            |
| Fwd P/E       | -            |
| Short %       | -            |
| Days to Cover | -            |
| Inst. Own     | - (data lag) |

ANALYSIS

CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER

9% surge to 99.3% of 52W high on 2.9x volume, driven by Energy sector leadership (+7.7% vs SPY this week) and likely natural gas infrastructure optimism. Forward catalyst: November 9 earnings will reveal volume throughput trends and potential distribution increases; Energy sector momentum provides sustained tailwind.

BUSINESS & POSITION

Summit operates natural gas gathering and processing infrastructure in DJ Basin, Williston Basin, and Appalachia, with fee-based contracts providing cash flow stability. The company emerged from restructuring and is in deleveraging/distribution growth phase.

FACTOR & THEME

Direct exposure to North American natural gas production and LNG export buildout theme. Energy sector leading all sectors (+7.7% vs SPY); midstream provides leveraged play on production growth with lower commodity risk. Sector grading boost (+0.5) applies.

BREAKOUT SIGNAL

Close above $34.81 on volume >2.9x of 20-day average

INSTITUTIONAL

2.93x volume on 9% move with microscopic float (2.2M shares) creates extreme technical leverage. Any institutional flow - even modest position initiation - moves the stock materially. No insider buying, but post-restructuring equity often sees management incentivized through equity grants rather than open-market purchases.

EARNINGS

EARNINGS IN 90D

EARNINGS CONTEXT

November 9 earnings; focus will be on volume throughput, DCF generation, and leverage ratio progression. Midstream investors care about distribution coverage and growth visibility more than EPS.

KEY RISK

Thesis invalidated on close below $32.50 (prior resistance), or any volume guidance cut / distribution suspension language at November 9 print. Micro-float (2.2M) creates extreme illiquidity; position size accordingly.

ANALYSIS

Energy sector leadership (+0.5 grading boost) + prox_52w 99.3% + micro-float leverage argue for A, but rs_line_new_high = false and RS +12.8 (good but not elite) prevent the upgrade. Base_tight 3.66 is acceptable but not VCP-tight. Disconfirming: in a mega-cap led regime, even sector-leading small-caps face crosswinds; SMC's RS is sector-driven, not idiosyncratic strength. Conviction: Medium - sector tailwind is real and 90-day runway to earnings is constructive, but micro-float illiquidity and lack of RS line confirmation limit conviction. Trade with tight stops.

Signal: Close above $34.81 on volume >2.9x of 20-day average

Vol vs Avg: 2.93x

MG

Mistras Group Inc

$18.93

+19.92%

RS vs SPY: +7.8%

B STRONG SETUP

$0.6B Cap | 13M Float

Security & Protection Services | Theme: Industrial Services | 52W Hi: 96% | Base Tight: 5.56 | Vol: 2.77x | RS/SPY: +7.8% | Above 20MA: YES | EARNINGS IN 85D

| SETUP METRICS |              |
|---------------|--------------|
| Price         | $18.93      |
| Day Change    | +19.92%      |
| Mkt Cap       | $0.60B      |
| Float         | 13M sh       |
| RS vs SPY     | +7.8%        |
| 52W Hi Prox   | 96%          |
| Base Tight    | 5.56         |
| Vol vs Avg    | 2.77x        |
| RS Line Hi    | no           |
| Above 50MA    | -            |
| Fwd P/E       | -            |
| Short %       | -            |
| Days to Cover | -            |
| Inst. Own     | - (data lag) |

| ANALYSIS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| CATALYST / TODAY'S DRIVER                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 20% surge to 96.4% of 52W high on 2.8x volume; likely driven by asset integrity/NDT services demand in energy and infrastructure sectors. Forward catalyst: November 4 earnings will reveal contract wins in refinery turnaround season and pipeline inspection demand; Energy sector momentum (+7.7%) supports industrial services re-rating.                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| BUSINESS & POSITION                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Mistras provides asset protection solutions (non-destructive testing, inspection, predictive maintenance) for critical infrastructure in oil & gas, power generation, aerospace, and manufacturing. Services are mission-critical for regulatory compliance and uptime in heavy industries.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| FACTOR & THEME                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Leveraged play on energy sector capex recovery (refinery/pipeline inspection) and infrastructure spending (bridge/building integrity). Benefits from aging energy infrastructure requiring increased monitoring and regulatory compliance tightening.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| BREAKOUT SIGNAL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Close above $18.93 on volume >2.7x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| INSTITUTIONAL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 2.77x volume on 20% move suggests news-driven or insider-knowledge flow. Small-cap ($600M) with tight float (13.3M) amplifies moves. No recent insider buying in last 60 days, which is a notable absence given 20% single-day surge - management not buying into strength is mild red flag.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| EARNINGS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| EARNINGS IN 85D                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| EARNINGS CONTEXT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| November 4 earnings; industrial services revenue is project-driven and lumpy. Key metrics: backlog growth, turnaround season booking rates, and margin expansion from operating leverage. Consensus unavailable for thinly-covered small-cap.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| KEY RISK                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Thesis invalidated on close below $17.00 (50% retracement of today's move), or any guidance disappointment at November 4 print. Wide base (5.56) + 20% single-day move + zero insider buying suggest headline-driven pop, not accumulation; giveback risk is material.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| ANALYSIS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Prox_52w 96.4% + Energy sector tailwind are positives, but RS +7.8 (modest), rs_line_new_high = false, and wide base (5.56) + 20% single-day surge without insider participation signal headline-driven volatility, not institutional accumulation. Disconfirming: in a disciplined VCP framework, you want base_tight <2.0 and insider validation on a 20% move; this has neither. Conviction: Low - treat as a mean-reversion trade or wait for consolidation; single-day 20% moves in small-caps often retrace 50%+ within weeks absent sustained catalyst. |
| Signal: Close above $18.93 on volume >2.7x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Vol vs Avg: 2.77x                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

HEPS

D-Market Electronic Services &

$2.91

+5.62%

RS vs SPY: +5.0%

B STRONG SETUP

$1.0B Cap | 30M Float

Internet Retail | Theme: Turkish E-commerce | 52W Hi: 88% | Base Tight: 1.75 | Vol: 4.18x | RS/SPY: +5.0% | Above 20MA: YES | REPORTED

| Setup Metrics |              |
|---------------|--------------|
| Price         | $2.91       |
| Day Change    | +5.62%       |
| Mkt Cap       | $1.04B      |
| Float         | 30M sh       |
| RS vs SPY     | +5.0%        |
| 52W Hi Prox   | 88%          |
| Base Tight    | 1.75         |
| Vol vs Avg    | 4.18x        |
| RS Line Hi    | no           |
| Above 50MA    | -            |
| Fwd P/E       | -            |
| Short %       | -            |
| Days to Cover | -            |
| Inst. Own     | - (data lag) |

| Analysis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Catalyst / Today's Driver6% follow-through move post-earnings (reported August 6) with textbook-tight base (1.75 ATR ratio = institutional coil). Hepsiburada likely reported improved unit economics and GMV growth in Turkish e-commerce rebound. Forward catalyst: next earnings ~90 days out will validate margin trajectory and market share gains; emerging market e-commerce consolidation theme supports sustained re-rating.                                                                                                                         |
| Business &amp; PositionHepsiburada operates Turkey's leading online marketplace (electronics, apparel, home goods), analogous to Amazon in the Turkish market. The company is navigating macro volatility while scaling logistics infrastructure and expanding take rates.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Factor &amp; ThemeEmerging market consumer recovery and e-commerce penetration growth in Turkey. Theme is idiosyncratic (Turkish macro stabilization) rather than secular; requires conviction on EM consumer resilience.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Breakout SignalClose above $2.91 on volume >4.0x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Institutional4.18x volume surge with base_tight 1.75 (VCP-quality) signals institutional re-engagement post-earnings. Tight base suggests controlled accumulation rather than retail chasing. No insider activity, which is common for foreign-domiciled listings where disclosure differs.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| EarningsReported                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Earnings ContextJust reported (August 6); post-earnings consolidation now breaking out. Turkish e-commerce is high-beta to macro, so GMV growth and adjusted EBITDA margin progression are key KPIs. Next print likely ~90 days out.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Key RiskThesis invalidated on close below $2.70 (base support), or any Turkish macro deterioration (lira collapse, political instability) that craters consumer discretionary spending. Emerging market risk is material and macro-driven, not company-specific.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| AnalysisBase_tight 1.75 (textbook VCP) + post-earnings consolidation breakout + prox_52w 87.5% are strong positives, but RS +5.0 (barely positive) and rs_line_new_high = false prevent A-grade. Disconfirming: Turkish ADR introduces geopolitical/macro risk orthogonal to U.S. market regime; a mega-cap led, risk-on U.S. market doesn't necessarily lift EM small-caps. Conviction: Medium - the technical setup is institutional-grade (that 1.75 base is elite), but you're buying Turkey macro, not just a stock. Size accordingly for EM volatility. |
| Signal: Close above $2.91 on volume &gt;4.0x of 20-day averageVol vs Avg: 4.18x                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

| Setup Metrics |              |
|---------------|--------------|
| Price         | $21.40      |
| Day Change    | +10.88%      |
| Mkt Cap       | $0.81B      |
| Float         | 26M sh       |
| RS vs SPY     | +23.2%       |
| 52W Hi Prox   | 88%          |
| Base Tight    | 4.23         |
| Vol vs Avg    | 3.8x         |
| RS Line Hi    | no           |
| Above 50MA    | -            |
| Fwd P/E       | -            |
| Short %       | -            |
| Days to Cover | -            |
| Inst. Own     | - (data lag) |

| Analysis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Catalyst / Today's Driver                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 11% surge on 3.8x volume, approaching breakout zone (88% of 52W high). Likely driven by hospital EEG adoption momentum and reimbursement pathway progress for neonatal seizure monitoring. Forward catalyst: November 3 earnings will reveal installed base growth and revenue per system expansion; Healthcare sector strength (+6.2% vs SPY) supports medtech multiple expansion.                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Business & Position                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| CeriBell develops point-of-care EEG systems for rapid detection of neonatal seizures in NICU settings, addressing critical gap in immediate diagnostic capability. The company is in commercial scale-up phase, expanding hospital adoption and building recurring revenue from disposable electrodes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Factor & Theme                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Healthcare innovation in critical neonatal care; benefits from hospital capital equipment recovery post-COVID and value-based care emphasis (preventing long-term neurological damage via early seizure detection improves outcomes and lowers total cost). Niche medtech with durable competitive moat.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Breakout Signal                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Close above $21.40 on volume >3.8x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Institutional                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 3.8x volume on 11% move suggests meaningful institutional interest, though not explosive. RS +23.2 shows solid outperformance but not extreme leadership. No insider buying in last 60 days; for a newly public medtech, management buying would have been a strong signal - its absence is neutral to slight negative.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Earnings                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Earnings in 84D                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Earnings Context                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| November 3 earnings; key metrics will be hospital installations (installed base growth), utilization rates (procedures per system), and gross margin on disposables. Medtech investors focus on unit economics and pipeline visibility.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Key Risk                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Thesis invalidated on close below $19.50 (recent consolidation floor), or any hospital adoption slowdown / reimbursement setback disclosed at November 3 print. Base_tight 4.23 (wide) suggests volatility; 15%+ post-earnings moves are possible in either direction.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Analysis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Healthcare sector momentum + RS +23.2 + prox_52w 88% are solid, but rs_line_new_high = false and base_tight 4.23 (wider than ideal) prevent A-grade. This is a good setup in a favorable sector but lacks the elite technical confirmation. Disconfirming: in a mega-cap led regime, a $810M medtech without RS line new high faces incremental-buyer question - who's the next marginal buyer if institutions are already positioned? Conviction: Medium - the November 3 catalyst runway is constructive and Healthcare tailwind is real, but technical structure is B-tier, not A-tier. |
| Signal: Close above $21.40 on volume >3.8x of 20-day average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Vol vs Avg: 3.8x                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

